113 Killed In Pair of Air Mishaps

Crash in Ireland Takes 52; Brazilian Accident Claims 61

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — An Italian airliner bound for New York with 52 persons aboard crashed and exploded today in a tiny Irish cemetery, scattering bodies "like a scene from hell."

Twenty-six of those aboard the Alitalia airliner were killed in the crash, and three others died after being brought to hospitals. Of the 23 survivors, many lay near death, horribly burned and broken.

The airline said 12 of the 40 passengers were Americans, but it could not say yet which if any had survived.

The four-engine DC7 crashed immediately after taking off from the Atlantic hop. It had set out from Naples, landed at Rome to pick up more passengers, and stopped in Shannon to refuel.

The airliner crashed through the wall of the cemetery, near the airport, and plowed through a line of tombstones and across a sheep pasture, leaving a mile-long trail of fire and bodies.

"There were bodies scattered all over the field," said a local priest, the Rev. Thomas Comerford. "People were mixed up with the remains of sheep the plane had killed. Most of the bodies were horribly mutilated."

"People were screaming, sheep were crying and dogs were barking. It was like a scene from hell."

The plane carried 40 passengers. Most were Italians.

The crash—at 2 a.m. within hours of an air collision in Rio de Janeiro that claimed 61 lives—brought to more than 325 the death toll in eight major plane disasters since Jan. 1.

The Rio collision involved a U.S. Navy plane and a Brazilian airliner and left a tragic aftermath to President Eisenhower's triumphal visit to Brazil.

Child Study Set For Ohio Boy, 13

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP)—The 13-year-old boy held in last Friday's fatal stabbing of a classmate aboard a school bus has been taken to the Child Study Institute at Toledo for observation, officials reported.

Douglas Konrath, adjudged a delinquent in Juvenile Court, will be examined and tested at the institute for 30 days, then returned to the court, said Fulton County Prosecutor John Barber.

Karen Smith, 12, of near Delta, died instantly when stabbed in the back twice with a seven-inch hunting knife. The slaying took place on a Delta school bus as it stopped to unload pupils.

Douglas' father is a teacher at the Delta School and the girl attended.

U.S.-Brazilian Relations Hit New High with Ike Visit

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—President Eisenhower's tragedy-tempered visit to Brazil appears to have raised U.S.-Brazilian relations to a fine new high.

It also has set a high standard for the other three stops—Argentina, Uruguay and Chile—on his four-nation, 15,560-mile tour.

Although some problems remain between the hemisphere's two biggest nations, the differences have moved into the background for the moment.

First came the enthusiastic receptions for the American President in Brasilia, Rio, and Sao Paulo.

Then came the tragic plane collision Thursday that took 61 American and Brazilian lives.

Word of the disaster over Rio's Guanabara Bay broke off the key talks between Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Foreign Minister Horacio Lafer. But these talks on both Inter-American and U. S. - Brazilian affairs are expected to resume when Lafer visits Washington late in March.

During Eisenhower's visit, Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek repeated his strong bid, with signs of initial success, for greater U.S. support for his cooperative plan for hemispheric economic development, known as Operation Pan-America.

In the Inter-American field, Eisenhower sounded a note for some joint hemispheric plan to counter Communist subversion. He also repeated U.S. desires for disarmament and the use of arms money for economic development, goals he is expected to underscore at the other stops on his tour.

Concerning U.S.-Brazilian relations, Brazil is understood to have explored the possibility of future loans from U.S. agencies as well as help for the government-owned oil industry, Petrobras. Brazilian sources said a memorandum would be submitted to Herter but declined to specify what it would say.

Brazil, traditionally close to the United States, had appeared to be drifting away in recent months. The Brazilian government has been angered by American refusal to extend credits for Brazil's industrial program unless Kubitschek adopted a financial austerity program. But Eisenhower's visit appears to have definitely stopped the drift.

Alex Benson, 32, a staff writer for the newspaper, began an investigation two months ago posing as a ghost writer. His activities were known to Hogan, the newspaper said, and the money Benson earned was turned over to the district attorney.

Benson said his investigation disclosed:

Cheating scholars pay up to $3,000 to agencies for writing theses necessary for doctorates, and smaller amounts for master's theses.

College students pay from $50 to $350 for ghost-written term papers.

Benson said he was paid $40 to substitute for a student at a final exam at Teachers College, an affiliate of Columbia University.

Benson also charged that one college professor at a Southwestern university — not identified — paid $1,250 for rewriting of his doctoral thesis.

Hogan said sections 224 and 225 of the state education law make it a misdemeanor to fraudulently obtain academic degrees or college course credits. Such violations are punishable by imprisonment up to three years, a $500 fine, or both.

Ohio Votes 8-18 To Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Ohio members of the House of Representatives voted for, and 18 against, overriding President Eisenhower's veto of a pollution control bill Thursday. The Ohioans voted strictly along party lines, as follows:

Democrats for: Ashley, Cook, Hays, Kirwan, Levering, Moeller, Vanik.

Republicans against: Ayres, Bolton, Betts, Brown, Devine, Henderson, Hess, Latta, McCulloch, Schenck, Baumhart, Scherer.

Paired for: Feighan (D).

Paired against: Bow (R). Minshall (R).

The President's veto was upheld by a 249-157 vote.

Northwest Ohio Hardest Hit By Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fast-moving storm which raked the South and Midwest swept into the Northeast today with heavy snow, sleet and strong winds.

Ohio weather varied greatly during the afternoon Thursday with temperatures as high as 56 at Chesapeake. A thunderscore occurred at Zanesville. The highest temperature recorded at Toledo was only 30.

Heavy snow accumulation occurred over the northwest part of the state, with snow 6 inches deep at Toledo while Findlay received 5 inches and Dayton 2 inches.

John Hegedus, 56, of Toledo, suffered a fatal heart attack after shoveling snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Toledo Airport said the snowfall was the heaviest in this area since April 7 and 8, 1957, when an accumulation of 9.8 inches was recorded.

Winds reached 25 miles per hour and blew the snow into drifts, which were up to three feet deep.

Driving was hazardous throughout the area. Police and the Highway Patrol reported more than 70 minor accidents in the Toledo area.

Here is the Ohio forecast for the next five days:

Temperatures will average 10 to 15 degrees below normal. Normal high 39-44, normal low 23-27. Continued cold with only small daily temperature changes Saturday through Wednesday. Precipitation will average less than one-quarter inch in occasional snow flurries near Lake Erie and a chance of more general snow Sunday or Monday.

The violent weather dumped heavy snow in western New York state and some sections of southern New Hampshire and Maine. Fresh falls measured seven inches in Buffalo, N. Y.

A mixture of wet snow, sleet and rain pelted southern parts of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont and interior sections of Massachusetts and New York.

The heavy snow line was from southern Illinois into Indiana, northwestern Ohio, southern Michigan and western New York.

The center of the storm, which followed the pattern of several similar storms this month in the eastern half of the nation, was located south of Lake Erie this morning. A new storm center appeared forming over northern New Jersey and was expected to move along the New England coast.

Snow up to more than four inches was in prospect for northern New Hampshire and northern Maine, with heavier falls in mountain areas.

Ike Due To Spend Weekend With Argentine Officials

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Eisenhower launched a weekend visit to Argentina today with an expression of satisfaction that "our commitments and common aspirations provide one stone in the structure of peace."

The President's orange and silver jet, bringing him from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, touched down at Ezeiza International Airport at 8:40 a. m. EST.

Addressing Argentina's Congress a few hours after arriving here for a weekend visit, Eisenhower spoke of "the ugly external threat which faces us"—an obvious allusion to communism. But he said here is a way the threat can be overcome.

The way, Eisenhower said, is a maximum international exchange of ideas, persons and techniques. That is "the surest foundation for the kind of cooperative progress we seek," the President declared.

As for Argentina's role, Eisenhower said:

"I am...happy to assure you of the continued readiness of my government to cooperate with you to the extent that such cooperation is feasible, is welcomed, and may contribute to the well-being of your great country."

He is here for a weekend visit, with more emphasis on diplomatic talks than parading. A series of bomb explosions early today in Buenos Aires was taken as an indication of efforts by Peronistas or other dissidents to embarrass the government of President Arturo Frondizi at the time of Eisenhower's visit.

The sun broke through the overcast skies just as Eisenhower arrived. The temperature hovered around 80.

He was greeted by an orderly crowd of 5,000, including President Arturo Frondizi, who was his guest in Washington a year ago.

The press editorially hailed the visit as a historical occasion which would result in closer links between the two nations.

Eisenhower said he greeted the Argentines with genuine pleasure and satisfaction.

"I am especially happy that my visit occurs during the 150th anniversary of your nation's valiant fight for freedom."

"I bring all of you the heartfelt good wishes of the government and the people of the United States, and I thank you earnestly for the cordial reception you have just accorded me and my associates. In the few days we shall be here among you, we hope to meet many of you personally, to

Reds Take 1,026 More Koreans To North Zone

NIIGATA, Japan (AP) — The Russian repatriation ships Tobolsk and Krilion sailed for Communist North Korea today with 1,026 more Koreans aboard. Nearly 10,000 Korean residents of Japan have chosen to make the trip to North Korea since the repatriation program began late last year.

Japanese Red Cross officials said they expected 100,000 more of the 600,000 Koreans living in Japan to make the journey.

enjoy the grandeur of your well-famed capital, to visit several other of your beautiful cities, and, at least from the air, to obtain a panoramic perspective of your vast and noble country.

"Muchas gracias, mis amigos," The pattern of Eisenhower's first hours were differed from that in the three other countries on his South American itinerary. A helicopter ride to downtown Buenos Aires was arranged instead of the airport-to-town parades set up in Rio de Janeiro, Santiago and Montevideo. One reason is that the Buenos Aires airport is more than an hour by car from the downtown district. Another possible reason is security, since the route would have carried the U. S. President through an area where followers of ex-President Juan D. Peron might be inclined to demonstrate.

The moment that Eisenhower stepped out of the nose door of the Boeing 707, the crowd, watching from an observation platform that partially circles the field in front of the administration building, started yelling and clapping. Eisenhower looked in their direction and grinned broadly. A 21-gun salute echoed across the broad runway.

Air Force Tries To Calm Furor over Training Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, buffeted between two groups of critics, is trying to calm the controversy into which a training manual has thrust it.

First a major church organization protested sharply statements in the manual that Communists had infiltrated some of the nation's churches.

The Air Force apologized, disavowed the statements, and withdrew the manual. That brought criticism from others who contended the statements were true, and who said the Air Force should have stuck by them.

The upshot apparently is that the manual will be re-issued without using names of churches or churchmen. Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) quoted Secretary of the Air Force Dudley C. Sharp as saying that Thursday at a closed hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Walter reported "the secretary said he had no reason to believe any of the statements in the manual were untrue."

Sharp later issued a statement saying the manual had been withdrawn "without any determination as to whether the charges were true or false."

Taking note of news reports that he had testified all charges in the manual were true, Sharp added "I did not so testify." His statement did not say specifically whether he had said any of the charges were true or were false.

Princess Meg To Marry Cameraman

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret was announced tonight to be engaged to Anthony Armstrong Jones, a court photographer.

Betrothal of the queen's 29-year-old sister was announced tonight at Clarence House, the princess' London home.

Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, Prince Philip, were said by a spokesman at Buckingham Palace to be "delighted because this is such a happy match."

The announcement comes a little over four years after Margaret's announcement that she would not marry Peter Townsend. Differences involving their religion—he was a divorced man—broke up that romance. Townsend last December married another girl.

The princess and Armstrong Jones—he is 29 too—first met two years ago in London at a party.

"They have met continuously since that time at various places and they have been together at Balmoral and at Sandringham," said the Clarence House press secretary, Maj. John Griffin.

Princess Margaret was born at Glamis Castle in Scotland. Legend says a girl born there will marry before she is 21 or become a spinster.

Cincinnati Slayer Given 1-20-Year Term

CINCINNATI (AP) — James Burke, 37, accused of killing a companion he thought had robbed him of $18, pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court Thursday to first-degree manslaughter and was sentenced to 1-20 years in the penitentiary. Burke was accused of killing Robert Doggett last Oct. 31.

He said the manual's withdrawal was ordered "because of the general impropriety of treating so important a subject, including the naming of specific individuals and organizations, without thorough review and approval at the highest levels, providing full protection for constitutional guaranteed rights."

The Air Force said its policy "has been and will continue to be to alert its personnel to the dangers of Communist infiltration into the military."

Senate Panel Calls Hoffa 'Contemptuous'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee today pictured Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa as displaying a "contemptuous attitude toward the U. S. Senate and all law and order."

It pinned the charge in part to Hoffa's creation of a purported antiracketeering commission with the announced purpose of driving corruption from the union.

"From the evidence, the committee can only conclude that this commission was formed merely for purposes of deception—to conceal from the committee, the courts and the public generally Hoffa's dependence on and obligations to these (racketeer) elements," the report said.

Hoffa named former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) to head the three-man commission. Bender since has resigned from the post.

After promising to clear up the union, the report said, Hoffa assigned Harold Gross to head Teamsters Local 320 in Miami, then put up $3,000 a month of Teamster funds to subsidize what it called "this racket local."

It said Gross was a convicted labor extortionist known as a fixer when Hoffa assigned him to the Miami Post. This, it said, was further evidence to back its accusation.

The committee in prior reports had accused Hoffa of corrupt deals and alliances with big-shot gangsters.

Its latest findings about him were in the first installment of a catch-all final report to the Senate on a variety of investigations held in 1958 and 1959. Other installments will be filed later. The committee's authority expires March 31.

17 U.S. Sailors On Trial for Party

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Seventeen U.S. sailors are on trial on charges of taking liquor and women of "questionable character" aboard a small Navy transport in Formosa last October for a sex party.

The Navy refused to disclose protested, a Navy spokesman said "publication of names at this time could be detrimental to the interests of the men concerned in their respective hometowns."

It was the first time in several years that a branch of the armed forces refused to identify personnel formally charged and on trial.

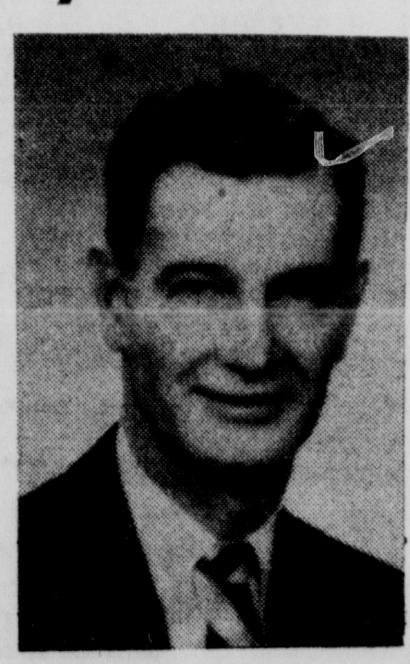

Robert F. Mott, executive director of the Columbus Development Committee, indicted to the commissioners that his group would advocate a dissolution of the present Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District and start preparing for a new, smaller district. The conservancy district court on Dec. 29, 1958, voted 12-5 to dissolve, but the move has been delayed by litigation.

Ghost-Writing Records Held

Experts Aid Collegians In Getting Degrees

NEW YORK (AP) — The district attorney's office has seized the books of four ghost-writing agencies in a probe of charges that college students and professors have had theses and term papers written for them for a fee.

After gathering up the records of the four unidentified agencies Thursday, Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the investigation started about three weeks ago on information from the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Eisenhower launched a weekend visit to Argentina today with an expression of satisfaction that "our commitments and common aspirations provide one stone in the structure of peace."

The President's orange and silver jet, bringing him from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, touched down at Ezeiza International Airport at 8:40 a. m. EST.

Addressing Argentina's Congress a few hours after arriving here for a weekend visit, Eisenhower spoke of "the ugly external threat which faces us"—an obvious allusion to communism. But he said here is a way the threat can be overcome.

The way, Eisenhower said, is a maximum international exchange of ideas, persons and techniques. That is "the surest foundation for the kind of cooperative progress we seek," the President declared.

As for Argentina's role, Eisenhower said:

"I am...happy to assure you of the continued readiness of my government to cooperate with you to the extent that such cooperation is feasible, is welcomed, and may contribute to the well-being of your great country."

He is here for a weekend visit, with more emphasis on diplomatic talks than on the military. A series of bomb explosions early today in Buenos Aires was taken as an indication of efforts by Peronists or other dissidents to embarrass the government of President Arturo Frondizi at the time of Eisenhower's visit.

The sun broke through the overcast skies just as Eisenhower arrived. The temperature hovered around 80.

He was greeted by an orderly crowd of 5,000, including President Arturo Frondizi, who was his guest in Washington a year ago.

The press editorially hailed the visit as a historical occasion which would result in closer links between the two nations.

Eisenhower said he greeted the Argentines with genuine pleasure and satisfaction.

"I am especially happy that my visit occurs during the 150th anniversary of your nation's valiant fight for freedom."

"I bring all of you the heartfelt good wishes of the government and the people of the United States, and I thank you earnestly for the cordial reception you have just accorded me and my associates. In the few days we shall be here among you, we hope to meet many of you personally, to

"Muchas gracias, mis amigos."

The pattern of Eisenhower's first hours were differed from that in the three other countries on his South American itinerary. A helicopter ride to downtown Buenos Aires was arranged instead of the airport-to-town parades set up in Rio de Janeiro, Santiago and Montevideo. One reason is that the Buenos Aires airport is more than an hour by car from the downtown district. Another possible reason is security, since the route would have carried the U. S. President through an area where followers of ex-President Juan D. Peron might be inclined to demonstrate.

The moment that Eisenhower stepped out of the nose door of the Boeing 707, the crowd, watching from an observation platform that partially circles the field in front of the administration building, started yelling and clapping. Eisenhower looked in their direction and grinned broadly. A 21-gun salute echoed across the broad runway.

He said the manual's withdrawal was ordered "because of the general impropriety of treating so important a subject, including the naming of specific individuals and organizations, without thorough review and approval at the highest levels, providing full protection for constitutional rights."

The Air Force said its policy "has been and will continue to be to alert its personnel to the dangers of Communist infiltration into the military."

He said the manual's withdrawal was ordered "because of the general impropriety of treating so important a subject, including the naming of specific individuals and organizations, without thorough review and approval at the highest levels, providing full protection for constitutional rights."

The Air Force apologized, disavowed the statements, and withdrew the manual. That brought criticism from others who contended the statements were true, and who said the Air Force should have stuck by them.

The upshot apparently is that the manual will be re-issued without using names of churches or churchmen. Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) quoted Secretary of the Air Force Dudley C. Sharp as saying that Thursday at a closed hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Walter reported "the secretary said he had no reason to believe any of the statements in the manual were untrue."

Sharp later issued a statement saying the manual had been withdrawn "without any determination as to whether the charges were true or false."

Taking note of news reports that he had testified all charges in the manual were true, Sharp added "I did not so testify." His statement did not say specifically whether he had said any of the charges were true or were false.

Northwest Ohio Hardest Hit By Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fast-moving storm which raked the South and Midwest swept into the Northeast today with heavy snow, sleet and strong winds.

Ohio weather varied greatly during the afternoon Thursday with temperatures as high as 56 at Chesapeake. A thunderscore occurred at Zanesville. The highest temperature recorded at Toledo was only 30.

Heavy snow accumulation occurred over the northwest part of the state, with snow 6 inches deep at Toledo while Findlay received 5 inches and Dayton 2 inches.

John Hegedus, 56, of Toledo, suffered a fatal heart attack after shoveling snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Toledo Airport said the snowfall was the heaviest in this area since April 7 and 8, 1957, when an accumulation of 9.8 inches was recorded.

Winds reached 25 miles per hour and blew the snow into drifts, which were up to three feet deep. Driving was hazardous throughout the area. Police and the Highway Patrol reported more than 70 minor accidents in the Toledo area.

Here is the Ohio forecast for the next five days:

Temperatures will average 10 to 15 degrees below normal. Normal high 39-44, normal low 23-27. Continued cold with only small daily temperature changes Saturday through Wednesday. Precipitation will average less than one-quarter inch in occasional snow flurries near Lake Erie and a chance of more general snow Sunday or Monday.

The violent weather dumped heavy snow in western New York state and some sections of southern New Hampshire and Maine. Fresh falls measured seven inches in Buffalo, N. Y.

A mixture of wet snow, sleet and rain pelted southern parts of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont and interior sections of Massachusetts and New York.

The heavy snow line was from southern Illinois into Indiana, northwestern Ohio, southern Michigan and western New York.

The center of the storm, which followed the pattern of several similar storms this month in the eastern half of the nation, was located south of Lake Erie this morning. A new storm center appeared forming over northern New Jersey and was expected to move along the New England coast.

Snow up to more than four inches was in prospect for northern New Hampshire and northern Maine, with heavier falls in mountain areas.

NLRB Election Ordered

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered a collective bargaining representative election held March 3 at the American Agricultural Chemical Co., Washington Court House.

The two male customers that authorities say were forced to make the drive escaped in Circleville.

Trustees of the fund and officers were named at the PCCF annual meeting in the Common Pleas Courtroom.

Other officers elected last night are Dr. Robert Burton, first vice president; B. B. Deffenbaugh, secretary and David Hoffman, treasurer.

Named to fill vacancies on the board of trustees were Charles McCray, Route 1, Ashville, for Madison Twp.; Ben Grace, Route 2, Ashville, for Scioto Twp.; Frank Lands, Route 1, Stoutsville, and Dr. Burton, Knollwood Village, for Washington Twp.; Mrs. Lawrence Hickie, New Holland, for Perry Twp.;

If It Orbits, Midas To 'See' Missile Firings

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

A huge rocket thundered aloft today in an attempt to boost an experimental Midas "spy in the sky" satellite into orbit. Midas' mission is to multiply warning time by detecting ballistic missiles only seconds off the launching pad.

An announcement on whether the satellite achieved orbit is expected here in about two hours, after it had had a chance to make one circle of the earth. The intended orbit for the device of more than two tons is between 100 and 200 miles high.

Midas, which stands for missile defense alarm system, is the first United States satellite launched for a purely military purpose. The Air Force has clamped a secrecy lid on most details about it.

Officials emphasized that this is only an experimental vehicle, a forerunner of a series of satellites planned to whirl about the earth on constant watch for enemy missile activity. They will carry infrared sensing devices to spot the heat trail of a hostile rocket as it is fired.

The warning would be flashed immediately to America, which then would have about 30 minutes to brace for nuclear bombardment and to send retaliatory weapons on the way.

The extra time to reach shelter could save thousands of lives.

The greater certainty of a smashing counter-blow could deter an enemy.

The first Midas contains the infrared equipment. The plan is to test it on missiles launched from Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

This satellite, fired not far off the line of the equator, is not scheduled to fly over Soviet territory.

When operational Midas satellites are launched into polar orbit, probably in 1961, they will pass over all of Russia. That is almost certain to bring objections in the absence of an international agreement permitting such missions.

The United States has proposed an "open skies" pact that would permit this country and Russia to make reconnaissance flights over each other's territory. The Soviets have not accepted the idea. They reportedly are working on spy satellites of their own.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee today pictured Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa as displaying a "contemptuous attitude toward the U. S. Senate and all law and order."

It pinned the charge in part to Hoffa's creation of a purported antiracketeering commission with the announced purpose of driving corruption from the union.

"From the evidence, the committee can only conclude that this commission was formed merely for purposes of deception—to conceal from the committee, the courts and the public generally Hoffa's dependence on and obligations to these (racketeer) elements," the report said.

Hoffa named former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) to head the three-man commission. Bender since has resigned from the post.

After promising to clear up the union, the report said, Hoffa assigned Harold Gross to head Teamsters Local 320 in Miami, then put up $3,000 a month of Teamster funds to subsidize what it called "this racket local."

It said Gross was a convicted labor extortionist known as a fixer when Hoffa assigned him to the Miami Post. This, it said, was further evidence to back its accusation.

The committee in prior reports had accused Hoffa of corrupt deals and alliances with big-shot gangsters.

Its latest findings about him were in the first installment of a catch-all final report to the Senate on a variety of investigations held in 1958 and 1959. Other installments will be filed later. The committee's authority expires March 31.

ON TRIAL FOR PARTY

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Seventeen U.S. sailors are on trial on charges of taking liquor and women of "questionable character" aboard a small Navy transport in Formosa last October for a sex party.

The Navy refused to disclose protested, a Navy spokesman said "publication of names at this time could be detrimental to the interests of the men concerned in their respective hometowns."

It was the first time in several years that a branch of the armed forces refused to identify personnel formally charged and on trial.

Baghdad, Iraq (AP) — An Iraqi court early today sentenced 17 persons to hang as the ring-leaders of the attempt to assassinate Premier Abdel Karim Kassem last October.

Col. Fadel Abbas Mahdawi, presiding over the court, handed down the sentences after a long tirade accusing President Gamal Nasser of the United Arab Republic of masterminding the plot.

Shadeville Man Wins, Loses Court Test on Drunk Driving

A Pickaway County Common Pleas Court petit jury yesterday found Julian Hannah, Shadeville, guilty on one count of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants (OMVI) but was unable to reach a decision on a second count against the Franklin County man.

After questioning the jury on the deadlock, presiding Judge William Ammer declared a hung jury and dismissed the second OMVI charge.

In a rare move, Hannah represented himself and won half his battle. He was charged with OMVI on Oct. 15, 1959 and again on Dec. 7, 1959.

His earlier arrest was made by County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover and this was the case the jury was unable to agree on.

HANNAH'S SECOND arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff. It was this case that the jury reached its guilty verdict and Judge Ammer sentenced Hannah to the usual $125 and costs, five days in the County Jail and loss of his driver's license for six months.

Deputy Aids Apprehension In Fairfield

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff aided in the apprehension of five men in Fairfield County yesterday.

Two of the men were taken into custody following a chase through a field by Fairfield Deputies. All of the men were being held in Lancaster today for investigation.

Deputy Radcliff, off duty and heading for Lancaster with his wife and children, spotted a weaving car which forced two other vehicles off Route 22 just east of the Pickaway County line.

Radcliff sent a message to Lancaster with the radio in his private car. Three of the men were picked up a short time later and the other two following the chase on foot.

of the 1960 Community Fund campaign, with James B. Carr, 506 Springhollow Road, as vice chairman.

The treasurer's report showed the drive last year netted $32,385.85, some $3,200 more than the $30,000 goal. Of that total $17,130 came from industry; $4,160 from special groups; $3,345 from city solicitations; $4,288 from county solicitations, and $3,461 from businesses.

Reports were made of 1959 activities of the five fund agencies.

The Boy Scouts reported that there were 312 scouts in Pickaway County. A rundown of the activities of the scouts in the county for 1959 included camporees, county fair camp, auto safety lane check, Scout-O-Rama, Pumpkin Show, Boy Scout Week.

CUBS participated in newspaper drives, county fair, Scout Week, Pumpkin Show and summer outings; Explorers went on an expedition to Norfolk, Va., Red Cross training and observed a staff for district camporees.

Detailed reports were received from three Girl Scout neighborhoods. Ashville girls took part in flood relief work, Pumpkin Show, Pickaway County Home visits, and State Hospital, Columbus, gift campaign. There are 92 girls in the Ashville units.

Five Trails neighborhood aided in flood relief, Thanksgiving baskets, Christmas caroling, Veterans' Hospital scrapbooks; cookouts and trips. Logan neighborhood took part in a tea honoring Guatemala scouts, skating party, Pumpkin Show, workshop, tours, study of Mexico, and homemaking activity.

There are 150 girls in the Logan neighborhood.

A complete financial report was given by the Youth Canteen Parents' Assn.

The Salvation Army report showed the organization handled 445 cases here, with 813 persons involved. Cash expended was $539. The work included food, cash assistance, furniture, clothing, medical care, Christmas assistance among other things.

A full Red Cross report was given. It included Bloodmobile work, disaster service, water safety, first aid, nursing services and volunteer services. Part of the report shows the Red Cross gave almost $10,000 in flood assistance during 1959.

Awards were given Robert and Clara Burton, who directed last year's fund campaign, plus awards to the captains of the various divisions.

Dyke Offers To Resign

Chester Dyke, suspended South Bloomfield Police Chief, has said that he has offered to resign if the village of South Bloomfield will pay him up to March 1 and drop charges of neglect of duty against him.

Dyke said he originally planned to fight the dismissal, but yesterday noted that he "would lose if I win". He said it would cost too much for legal procedure and that working under reinstatement would be unpleasant.

South Bloomfield officials have said that charges of neglect will not be dropped, nor will the village pay Dyke beyond February 15.

Dyke said he was asked to quit the police post earlier this month. He said he refused, feeling that the village council did not use proper legal procedure.

Thirty-five of the dead, and the only three survivors, were U.S. Navy men. Among the dead were 19 leading members of the U.S. Navy's world-famed band, "the cream of the crop," coming from Buenos Aires to play for a dinner Eisenhower gave Thursday night for Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek.

The survivors and seven of the dead were members of the U.S. Navy antisubmarine team which had been sent to advise the Argentine navy after a mystery submarine was reported in a gulf on the Argentine coast. No sub was found, and the team was on its way home.

Others dead in the crash were the 7 crewmen of the Navy plane, a four-engine R6D, 2 other Navy passengers, and 22 Brazilian passengers and the crew of 4 aboard the airliner.

The U.S. Embassy said the Navy plane coming from Buenos Aires was scheduled to fly at 6,000 feet and land at Galeao Airport, on an island in the bay. The two-engine Real airliner, which was coming from Victoria, north of Rio de Janeiro, was scheduled to fly at 5,000 feet for a landing at Santos Dumont Airport, a few miles from Galeao.

The planes collided and broke in pieces near Sugar Loaf Mountain, at the entrance to the bay, one of the city's landmarks. Residents of seashore apartments looked on in horror as the wreckage plunged into the bay.

Civil Defense Radio Center Is Planned for This Area

A Circleville and Pickaway County Civil Defense Amateur Radio Communications Center is being planned here in case of a CD alert on a local, state or national basis.

Present plans call for the center to be set up at the Memorial Hall. Col. Paul Lindimore of the State Civil Defense office came here this week to discuss the program.

A RACES program (Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service) is slated to be organized here. Ned Young, Walnut Creek Pike, and Ed Whaley, Route 1, both are licensed amateurs who will direct the local program.

Young and Whaley intend to set up a program for radio theory and code classes for those interested in amateur and civil defense communications.

RICHARD Compton, adviser to Explorer Scout Post No. 3, said his group is interested in civil defense communications. He said his scouts already have studied the International Morse Code.

Another meeting on the meeting is scheduled at the Memorial Hall to study the program.

Ohio is divided into five areas, with Pickaway County located in Area No. 2 which includes 18 counties.

Headquarters for Area No. 2 is at Bridgeville in Muskingum County. Each county center reports directly to area headquarters and area headquarters reports to the State Communications Control Center.

Shadeville Man Wins, Loses Court Test on Drunk Driving

A Pickaway County Common Pleas Court petit jury yesterday found Julian Hannah, Shadeville, guilty on one count of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants (OMVI) but was unable to reach a decision on a second count against the Franklin County man.

After questioning the jury on the deadlock, presiding Judge William Ammer declared a hung jury and dismissed the second OMVI charge.

In a rare move, Hannah represented himself and won half his battle. He was charged with OMVI on Oct. 15, 1959 and again on Dec. 7, 1959.

His earlier arrest was made by County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover and this was the case the jury was unable to agree on.

HANNAH'S SECOND arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff. It was this case that the jury reached its guilty verdict and Judge Ammer sentenced Hannah to the usual $125 and costs, five days in the County Jail and loss of his driver's license for six months.

The two cases were combined

Deputy Aids Apprehension In Fairfield

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff aided in the apprehension of five men in Fairfield County yesterday.

Two of the men were taken into custody following a chase through a field by Fairfield Deputies. All of the men were being held in Lancaster today for investigation.

Deputy Radcliff, off duty and heading for Lancaster with his wife and children, spotted a weaving car which forced two other vehicles off Route 22 just east of the Pickaway County line.

Radcliff sent a message to Lancaster with the radio in his private car. Three of the men were picked up a short time later and the other two following the chase on foot.

of the 1960 Community Fund campaign, with James B. Carr, 506 Springblossom Road, as vice chairman.

The treasurer's report showed the drive last year netted $32,385.85, some $3,290 more than the $30,000 goal. Of that total $17,130 came from industry; $4,160 from special groups; $3,345 from city solicitations; $4,288 from county solicitations, and $3,461 from businesses.

Reports were made of 1959 activities of the five fund agencies.

The Boy Scouts reported that there were 312 scouts in Pickaway County. A rundown of the activities of the scouts in the county for 1959 included camporees, county fair camp, auto safety lane check, Scout-O-Rama, Pumpkin Show, Boy Scout Week.

CUBS participated in newspaper drives, county fair, Scout Week, Pumpkin Show and summer outings; Explorers went on an expedition to Norfolk, Va., Red Cross training and observed a staff for district camporees.

Detailed reports were received from three Girl Scout neighborhoods. Ashville girls took part in flood relief work, Pumpkin Show, Pickaway County Home visits, and State Hospital, Columbus, gift campaign. There are 92 girls in the Ashville units.

Five Trails neighborhood aided in flood relief. Thanksgiving baskets, Christmas caroling, Veterans' Hospital scrapbooks; cookouts and trips. Logan neighborhood took part in a tea honoring Guatemala scouts, skating party, Pumpkin Show, workshop, tours, study of Mexico, and homemaking activity.

There are 150 girls in the Logan neighborhood.

A complete financial report was given by the Youth Canteen Parents' Assn.

The Salvation Army report showed the organization handled 445 cases here, with 813 persons involved. Cash expended was $539. The work included food, cash assistance, furniture, clothing, medical care, Christmas assistance among other things.

A full Red Cross report was given. It included Bloodmobile work, disaster service, water safety, first aid, nursing services and volunteer services. Part of the report shows the Red Cross gave almost $10,000 in flood assistance during 1959.

Rotarians, Farmer Guests Hear How Selling Aids All

The annual Rural - Urban meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club was attended by 138 Rotarians and their farmer guests Thursday noon at the EUB Service Center.

This meeting is held annually to promote better understanding and closer ties between the farmers and those who serve them. The program was highlighted by the address of Harry "Hap" Bowser of Dai-rypak Inc., Cleveland.

Bowser asserted that no nation enjoys the standard of living as high as that of the United States and that this standard of living is the result of energetic selling whether it be a new invention, our

Dyke Offers To Resign

Chester Dyke, suspended South Bloomfield Police Chief, has said that he has offered to resign if the village of South Bloomfield will pay him up to March 1 and drop charges of neglect of duty against him.

Dyke said he originally planned to fight the dismissal, but yesterday noted that he "would lose if I win". He said it would cost too much for legal procedure and that working under reinstatement would be unpleasant.

South Bloomfield officials have said that charges of neglect will not be dropped, nor will the village pay Dyke beyond February 15.

Dyke said he was asked to quit the police post earlier this month. He said he refused, feeling that the village council did not use proper legal procedure.

Trapper Fined For No Name Tags

Floyd Gaines, Route 2, Ashville, was fined $15 and costs yesterday by Circleville Municipal Court on a charge of failure to have identification on traps used in taking muskrats.

The affidavit stated that Gaines failed to have durable waterproof tags on traps. The charge was filed by Fred Schob, game protector.

recovered Thursday.

Thirty-five of the dead, and the only three survivors, were U.S. Navy men. Among the dead were 19 leading members of the U.S. Navy's world-famed band, "the cream of the crop," coming from Buenos Aires to play for a dinner Eisenhower gave Thursday night for Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek.

The survivors and seven of the dead were members of the U.S. Navy antisubmarine team which had been sent to advise the Argentine navy after a mystery submarine was reported in a gulf on the Argentine coast. No sub was found, and the team was on its way home.

Others dead in the crash were the 7 crewmen of the Navy plane, a four-engine B6D, 2 other Navy passengers, and 22 Brazilian passengers and the crew of 4 aboard the airliner.

The U.S. Embassy said the Navy plane coming from Buenos Aires was scheduled to fly at 6,000 feet and land at Galeao Airport, on an island in the bay. The two-engine Real airliner, which was coming from Vitoria, north of Rio de Janeiro, was scheduled to fly at 5,000 feet for a landing at Santos Dumont Airport, a few miles from Galeao.

The planes collided and broke in pieces near Sugar Loaf Mountain, at the entrance to the bay, one of the city's landmarks. Residents of seashore apartments looked on in horror as the wreckage plunged into the bay.

Civil Defense Radio Center Is Planned for This Area

A Circleville and Pickaway County Civil Defense Amateur Radio Communications Center is being planned here in case of a CD alert on a local, state or national basis.

Present plans call for the center to be set up at the Memorial Hall. Col. Paul Lindimore of the State Civil Defense office came here this week to discuss the program.

A RACES program (Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service) is slated to be organized here. Ned Young, Walnut Creek Pike, and Ed Whaley, Route 1, both are licensed amateurs who will direct the local program.

Young and Whaley intend to set up a program for radio theory and code classes for those interested in amateur and civil defense communications.

RICHARD Compton, adviser to Explorer Scout Post No. 3, said his group is interested in civil defense communications. He said his scouts already have studied the International Morse Code.

Another meeting on the meeting is scheduled at the Memorial Hall to study the program.

Ohio is divided into five areas, with Pickaway County located in Area No. 2 which includes 18 counties.

Headquarters for Area No. 2 is at Bridgeville in Muskingum County. Each county center

reports directly to area headquarters and area headquarters reports to the State Communications Control Center.

During the 1939 flood disaster in Central Ohio, amateur operators worked many hours assisting civil defense and the Red Cross.

A Prisoner for Christ

THE CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH LED TO PAUL'S UNEXPECTED AND UNWARRANTED ARREST

Scripture—Acts 21:17—22:29.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"IN OUR last lesson we said that the narrative carried the apostle Paul to the end of his third missionary journey, and as far as we know, this was the last missionary journey of the apostle, although he probably lived at least six more years. The reason we do not speak of another missionary journey is because Paul, in coming to Jerusalem, is unexpectedly set upon, arrested, and then tried for one reason or another (five trials—two in Jerusalem, and three in Caesarea—and a sixth one in Rome of which we have no record). These five trials carry us down to the 26th chapter.

"There was a time when Paul was in favor with the Sanhedrin in Jerusalem, which now attempts his death; there was a time when the Jerusalem church feared the persecutions of Paul of Tarsus, but they now welcome him with open arms, recognizing him to be the greatest of all the Christian apostles of their century."—I am quoting from the Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith's Paul and His Times. "And when we were come to

"Paul was not only advised to join in the purification rites, but to pay the expenses of all offerings. By this, said the elders, the whole multitude of Jerusalem believers and the rest of the population will see for themselves that you conform to the law of Moses and the ancestral customs."—F. F. Bruce. "He was also advised to take the vow, which was an ancient custom to thank God for some special blessing, like recovery from sickness, some piece of good fortune, and the like, or in order to obtain some blessing from God. These vows meant that a person would live priest-like as one for the time especially dedicated to God."—R. C. H. Lenski.

"When the seven days had almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia, when they saw Paul in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid hands on him, crying out, Men of Israel, help! this is the man, that teacheth all men everywhere against the people and the law, and this place," and they dragged Paul out of the temple and closed the doors.—Acts 21:27-30.

MEMORY VERSE

"Endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ,"—II Timothy 2:3.

Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly. And the day following Paul went in with us unto James; and all the elders were present. And when he had saluted them, he declared particularly what things God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministry.

"And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousands of Jews there are which believe; and they are all zealous of the law."—Acts 21:17-20.

"When Paul came to Jerusalem, the elders of the church frankly told him that among the thousands of Jews who had become Christians, many were still 'zealous for the law' and advised Paul to join with them in purification, with four men who apparently contracted some ceremonial defilement and had to undergo a purification rite in the temple.

"Seven days had to elapse before a Nazarene who had contracted such defilement could be purified; such a man shaved his head on the seventh day and brought his offering on the eighth day.

Truck Firm Sued For $250,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Lakewood man seeks $250,000 in a personal injury suit in U.S. District Court here against Miller Transportation, Inc., of Cleveland.

Kenneth Farber claims in his petition that he was permanently disabled when his car was hit by a tractor-trailer owned by the defendant last June 19 on U.S. 6 in Wood County.

Farber claims the tractor-trailer went out of control on a curve, crossed the center line and crashed into his automobile. The defendant was negligent in failure to maintain and operate the truck under control, Farber charges.

A Prisoner for Christ

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"IN OUR last lesson we said that the narrative carried the apostle Paul to the end of his third missionary journey, and as far as we know, this was the last missionary journey of the apostle, although he probably lived at least six more years. The reason we do not speak of another missionary journey is because Paul, in coming to Jerusalem, is unexpectedly set upon, arrested, and then tried for one reason or another (five trials—two in Jerusalem, and three in Caesarea)—and a sixth one in Rome of which we have no record. These five trials carry us down to the 26th chapter.

"There was a time when Paul was in favor with the Sanhedrin in Jerusalem, which now attempts his death; there was a time when the Jerusalem church feared the persecutions of Paul of Tarsus, but they now welcome him with open arms, recognizing him to be the greatest of all the Christian apostles of their century."—I am quoting from the Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith's Paul's Notes.

"And when we were come to

"Paul was not only advised to join in the purification rites, but to pay the expenses of all offerings. By this, said the elders, the whole multitude of Jerusalem believers and the rest of the population will see for themselves that you conform to the law of Moses and the ancestral customs."—F. F. Bruce.

"He was also advised to take the vow, which was an ancient custom to thank God for some special blessing, like recovery from sickness, some piece of good fortune, and the like, or in order to obtain some blessing from God. These vows meant that a person would live priest-like as one for the time especially dedicated to God."—R. C. H. Lenski.

"When the seven days had almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia, when they saw Paul in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid hands on him, crying out, Men of Israel, help: this is the man, that teacheth all men everywhere against the people and the law, and this place." and they dragged Paul out of the temple and closed the doors.—Acts 21:27-30.

MEMORY VERSE

"Endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."—II Timothy 2:3.

Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly. And the day following Paul went in with us unto James; and all the elders were present. And when he had saluted them, he declared particularly what things God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministry.

"And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousands of Jews there are which believe; and they are all zealous of the law."—Acts 21:20.

"When Paul came to Jerusalem, the elders of the church frankly told him that among the thousands of Jews who had become Christians, many were still zealous for the law and advised Paul to join with them in purification, with four men who apparently contracted some ceremonial defilement and had to undergo a purification rite in the temple.

"Seven days had to elapse before a Nazarene who had contracted such defilement could be purified; such a man shaved his head on the seventh day and brought his offering on the eighth day.

Based on copyrighted outline produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

As they were about to kill him, word of the uproar came to Jerusalem's military chief. He "immediately took soldiers and centurions, and ran down unto them; and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul."

"Then the chief captain came near and commanded that he be bound with two chains; and demanded who he was, and what he had done."—Acts 21:31-33. Paul answered: "I am a man which am a Jew of Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city (Rome); and, I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people."

And when there was silence, he spoke to them in Hebrew.—Acts 21:39-40.

"When the chief captain heard he was a Roman citizen, he said, 'With a great sum obtained I this freedom.' Paul said, 'I was free born.'—Acts 22:27-28.

"Then straightway they departed from him (Paul) which should have examined him; and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him." The next day he freed him.—Acts 22:29-30.

Herter Turns Realist

Is Secretary of State Christian Herter the administration's official realist?

In an administration increasingly looking at the optimistic side of events, Herter is beginning to stand out as something of an exception. A few weeks ago he warned that trouble could flare up over Berlin again.

Now he warns that an "accidental" war is becoming more and more possible as scientific advances bring the world closer to a holocaust "by miscalculation." Herter says steps are urgently necessary to create "a more stable environment" by ending the arms race.

Specifically, Herter calls for safeguards against surprise attack and for prohibiting the testing of nuclear weapons under effective inspection controls.

At a time when the public may have been lulled by hopes for the forthcoming summit conferences between East and West it should be reminded periodically that the dangers of nuclear war are by no means past. Such warnings have been coming from the military, but it is useful to have one from the diplomatic arm.

Realists know that the present "peace wave" probably will not last. Secretary Herter may only be hedging the administration's peace bets against that eventuality.

Thoughts on Labor Change

A significant shift in thinking among American intellectuals in regard to labor has taken place in recent years, according to Prof. George S. Odiorne of the University of Michigan's bureau of industrial relations.

Odiorne says that during the next decade labor unions may find the strongest attacks against them leveled by one-time friends in the universities and churches.

"During the '30s," Odiorne says, "the unions as advocates of 'more' for the underdog could attract the support of independent opinion-makers in pulpit and college classroom. This independent thinker today finds himself far less challenged by the plight of the simple workman, who is often much better paid than a professor is for teaching college English."

The professor has underlined a fact: that unions and their members no longer are the "have-nots" in U. S. society, and as a result have lost the sympathy accorded underdogs.

Odiorne says individuals in American life in real need are farm laborers, service workers, retired persons on pensions, low-paid clerical workers. Unions should embrace individuals in these groups if they want to retain the support of intellectuals, he says. The difficulty for the unions in this is that organizing drives in these fields have been abysmal failures in the past.

There's nothing prettier than red-haired girls...but 8 out of 10 of them have crummy looking eyelashes.

It's popular to laugh at young beatniks, but any man who says he never had a yearning to grow a beard himself is a cowardly liar.

My idea of total misery would be to be cast up on a desert island with nothing to listen to but a rock 'n' roll record and nothing to read but James Joyce's "Finnegans Wake."

More women than men indulge in jaywalking, because they are more used to doing things in their own way.

The world holds no greater example of mistaken hope than a

The most annoying small big shots are those who have their secretaries ring you on the phone... Instead of dialing your number themselves.

A Touch of Marxism

By George Sokolsky

To one who has studied revolutions and particularly the Marxist Revolution, which is now 112 years old, it is startling that so little is really known about what it all means. In fact, when one gets down to brass tacks, he is liable to be called arrogant by those who prefer the relaxation of easy approximations and private definitions.

Today, the course of events requires every nation to be Communist, pro-Communist or anti-Communist. Thus, Marxism has become, both on the political and the economic sides, the central idea of the age, the competitor of Christianity for the minds of men.

To favor Marxism, or to oppose it, one has to understand it. Guessing, approximating help neither in favoring nor opposing this movement which has influenced the lives of the entire human race.

For instance, we, in the United States, continue to suffer from high taxes, an increasing national debt and a depreciating currency only because Marxism is the controlling system of our objective enemy. We today face the Cuban problem as something different from anything we ever knew before because Marxism is the prevailing creed of those who today control Cuba.

Karl Marx wrote many works, all of them designed to establish what he regarded as the scientific system for a socialized, anti-democratic, pragmatic, materialistic, atheistic way of life. He did not limit himself to economics but developed a sociological and philosophic system, the essence of which is that man is a product of his environment and that whoever or whatever controls the environment conditions the nature of man. Therefore, no system of morals or ethics based upon a mystical power can have any validity because it is man who can master the universe and make of it what he pleases.

The essential opposition to Marxism then is not capitalism but religion — the belief in the mystical power of God to create the universe and to rule it by Natural Law. This opposition viewpoint the Marxists regard as opium for the masses, a brain-washing of the minds of the majority of people everywhere by their masters.

For religion, the Marxists substitute the class struggle, namely, that the human race progresses by conflict, just as in all nature there is conflict. Survival is not always to the physically strongest; it is undoubtedly to the cleverest, the most flexible, the most adjustable.

The classification of mankind, according to ability, is accepted in both Soviet Russia and Red China, where status is of primary significance. As ability is so significant and status so respected, equality is discarded altogether and democracy is regarded as a mark of Western degeneration.

In fact, on the political side, the Marxists never fail to work with their economic opponents, the capitalists. There is no paradox in this because obviously they have most successfully exploited the capitalist system. Such men will most successfully exploit the Communist system. Their theory is that they must inevitably succeed because, according to their doctrine, socialism must supplant capitalism as capitalism succeeded feudalism.

This is a tight statement of beliefs. To study it fully, one must read a vast literature, the principal books having been written by Germans and Russians.

There are some who have satisfied themselves by reading the "Communist Manifesto" and the first chapter of "Das Kapital." This is an insufficient approach to the subject for an intelligent person who really wants to grasp what Marxism is and why it functions in some places in one way and in other places differently. It is necessary to read much of the writings of Lenin to know what is happening in the Soviet Universal State. It is also necessary to know the history of Russia.

The fact that Red China, rather than a Western country, is the second Communist country, is not shocking to anyone familiar with Chinese history and thought. Pragmatism and materialism are Confucian doctrines and the highly-touted family system of China, which is not unlike tribal systems in Mongolia and Turkestan, is in no way polluted by Communism. The antithesis of Marxism is not the tribal system of China but the extreme forms of Calvinistic individualism.

Therefore, China fell into the Soviet orbit with less resistance than the West anticipated and it is likely that Red China will remain there for many economic and political reasons.

WHEN IT CAME to cussing, farmer Obediah took the cake. People from all over came to marvel at his ability to cuss for 15 minutes at a stretch without so much as taking time out to bite off a chaw of terbakky.

One stormy afternoon word went around that the brand new bakery barn had collapsed, burying Obediah's new 1960 station wagon. Everybody rushed over to hear what promised to be a world's record in continuous profanity. The extent of the misfortune proved too much for him, however. He shook his head and announced, "You'll have to excuse me, folks. I just cannot cuss enough to do justice to the occasion."

A TV comic had taken up ice skating between bouts with John Barleycorn, and progressed to the point where he boasted about his figure 8s. "That's the simplest trick on ice," scoffed his producer. "Kids do it every day."

"Not the way I do it," said the comic. "I make a 5 with one foot and 3 with the other."

Accident Prevention Tips

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Want to increase your life expectancy? Then be careful; just be careful.

The great majority of accidental deaths are caused by 14 careless habits.

This is the conclusion reached in a recent survey of home and work accidents as reported in the American Association of Industrial Nurses Journal.

The steps to prevent these types of accidents are simple and they may save your life. Here they are:

Don't stumble around in the dark. Have light switches near every door.

Unless you have 20-20 vision in the dark, be sure to paint the top and bottom basement stairs white so you will always know when you reach them.

Make sure that all loose or torn carpeting is tacked down promptly. Throw rugs and should be secured with non-skid material. Stairs must be kept in good repair and their coverings must be kept firmly fastened.

Keep flashlights in easily accessible places around the house in case of power failure.

Prevent bathtub accidents by installing firm grab rails. A non-skid rubber mat makes it safer to stand up in the tub.

Paint all fences and low wires a bright color or mark them with cloth strips. That way you'll have a chance to see them before you stumble upon them.

You might be a whiz with tools, but don't try to fix everything yourself. Let the experts who know their business check and repair your electrical appliances.

Fuse boxes were not meant to operate properly with pennies. Give the pennies to the kids and install fuses that belong.

Overloaded wiring can make a tinder box out of your house. Get in touch with your local electrical company to determine whether your home is adequately equipped to handle all our modern electric appliances.

Fires need fuel to burn. Keep oil-soaked rags and paint in sealed metal containers. Just in case, have in the basement, kitchen and other danger spots.

Chairs and tables were not made for climbing. Use a ladder.

Stalled autos make fine accident targets, especially at night. Always carry flares in your trunk and a flashlight in the glove compartment.

Don't touch electrical equipment if you are wet. A radio or television set can deliver a fatal shock, even if it isn't a horror story that is being broadcast.

Finally, and most important, repair all hazards when they are spotted. Waiting until tomorrow may be too long to wait.

Question and Answer

R. E. C.: Could you tell me what causes the stomach to roll and fill up with gas and a sensation like indigestion at the pit of the stomach?

Answer: Excessive gas in the stomach may be due to diet. Certain foods, such as cabbage, cauliflower and beans may do this. Gallbladder trouble may produce this symptom. Many cases are caused by nervousness and the swallowing of air.

You should see your doctor and perhaps have x-rays taken.

Undergrads Give Apology To Preacher

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The undergraduate council of Allegheny College has issued a public apology for a student demonstration that cut short a religious rally on the campus.

A number of the 700 to 800 students who attended the service Monday night started to whistle and boo, and forced the Rev. Rex Humbard of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, to walk off a stage at the David Mead Fieldhouse.

The undergraduate council, at a special convocation, issued this statement:

"Those of us who were in attendance at the meeting... feel that some of the behavior on the part of some students carried out without malicious intent may have hurt people who had come for sincere religious purposes.

"Although we cannot support the religious views expressed during the service, we realize that our actions were intolerant and we wish to extend our apologies to those in attendance."

The Rev. Mr. Humbard serves the Cathedral of Tomorrow at Cuyahoga Falls.

Earlier Dr. Lawrence L. Pelletier, college president, issued a statement saying "I am deeply sorry that a group of our undergraduates failed to behave as ladies and gentlemen."

Herter Turns Realist

Is Secretary of State Christian Herter the administration's official realist?

In an administration increasingly looking at the optimistic side of events, Herter is beginning to stand out as something of an exception. A few weeks ago he warned that trouble could flare up over Berlin again.

Now he warns that an "accidental" war is becoming more and more possible as scientific advances bring the world closer to a holocaust "by miscalculation." Herter says steps are urgently necessary to create "a more stable environment" by ending the arms race.

Specifically, Herter calls for safeguards against surprise attack and for prohibiting the testing of nuclear weapons under effective inspection controls.

At a time when the public may have been lulled by hopes for the forthcoming summit conferences between East and West it should be reminded periodically that the dangers of nuclear war are by no means past. Such warnings have been coming from the military, but it is useful to have one from the diplomatic arm.

Realists know that the present "peace wave" probably will not last. Secretary Herter may only be hedging the administration's peace bets against that eventuality.

Thoughts on Labor Change

A significant shift in thinking among American intellectuals in regard to labor has taken place in recent years, according to Prof. George S. Odiorne of the University of Michigan's bureau of industrial relations.

Odiorne says that during the next decade labor unions may find the strongest attacks against them leveled by one-time friends in the universities and churches.

"During the '30s," Odiorne says, "the unions as advocates of 'more' for the underdog could attract the support of independent opinion-makers in pulpit and college classroom. This independent thinker today finds himself far less challenged by the plight of the simple workman, who is often much better paid than a professor is for teaching college English."

Odiorne says individuals in American life in real need are farm laborers, service workers, retired persons on pensions, low-paid clerical workers. Unions should embrace individuals in these groups if they want to retain the support of intellectuals, he says. The difficulty for the unions in this is that organizing drives in these fields have been abysmal failures in the past.

A Touch of Marxism

By George Sokolsky

To one who has studied revolutions and particularly the Marxist Revolution, which is now 112 years old, it is startling that so little is really known about what it all means. In fact, when one gets down to brass tacks, he is liable to be called arrogant by those who prefer the relaxation of easy approximations and private definitions.

Today, the course of events requires every nation to be Communist, pro-Communist or anti-Communist. Thus, Marxism has become, both on the political and the economic sides, the central idea of the age, the competitor of Christianity for the minds of men.

To favor Marxism, or to oppose it, one has to understand it. Guessing, approximating help neither in favoring nor opposing this movement which has influenced the lives of the entire human race.

For instance, we, in the United States, continue to suffer from high taxes, an increasing national debt and a depreciating currency only because Marxism is the controlling system of our objective enemy. We today face the Cuban problem as something different from anything we ever knew before because Marxism is the prevailing creed of those who today control Cuba.

Karl Marx wrote many works, all of them designed to establish what he regarded as the scientific system for a socialized, anti-democratic, pragmatic, materialistic, atheistic way of life. ## Cost of Living News Put in Happy Category

U.S. Economic Index May Be Leveling Off, Businessmen Believe

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The happy news Thursday was the growing belief that the cost of living may have leveled off for awhile.

It will be leveling off at or near its record high. Some prices and fees will continue to climb. But others should ease, thus striking a balance.

The good news is that while it still will cost a lot to live as you are accustomed to, maybe it won't get any worse, for a change.

The belief is held by both those who shape up the consumer price index in Washington and observers of the commodity markets and the business scene in general.

All kinds of reasons are given for the belief—at least the hope—that further inflation has been sidetracked, if only for the time being. Taken together they could forecast a breather.

Abundance is the key word. Almost all commodities are in good supply. Some are in surplus, and the stress now is more on trying to keep them from glutting domestic or world markets rather than pressure to send prices higher.

Food is the biggest item in most budgets. Food prices will fluctuate with the seasons. But given prospects of a good harvest later on, the housewife's over-all good budget shouldn't change much for awhile.

Most industrial materials also are in good supply and purchasing agents shouldn't have to scramble for anything but the most special or intricate items.

And with retail stores mostly well stocked and sales rivalry growing, or at least unabated, an eye on the newspaper ads should help housewives keep most spending in line.

The success of most post-Christmas clearance sales shows that consumers are well aware of this.

Many manufacturers have good reasons to want to raise prices. In many cases their operating costs have risen. But in only a few cases have prices risen as much as operating costs.

Part of this is due to greater plant efficiency as management strives to hold down costs. Part is due to the use of better equipment and sometimes of new and better plants.

But a chief factor is the greater capacity to produce in most industries. One way to increase use of surplus capacity is to boost sales by keeping prices down. Usually, just around the corner, is a rival who will undersell you if you don't.

DiSalle Anti-Vice Campaign To Hinge on Canton Probe

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says his administration's future efforts to stamp out racketeering in Ohio will depend to a large extent on the outcome of the attorney general's investigation of commercialized gambling and vice in Stark County.

Joseph Ralston, named by Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to head the probe, and his staff are now presenting to a special grand jury of Stark counties the evidence gathered from the investigation launched last August at the request of the governor.

Another two to three months is expected to elapse before the presentation is completed and the special panel can decide whether the evidence warrants indictments.

"We are looking for some type of pattern to use in attacking commercialized crime," DiSalle said, "and this is one approach. Our future conduct is going to be gauged on the success of the Stark County investigation."

"If it works out there, we'll probably use it elsewhere in the state. If it does not prove as successful as we hoped, we'll look for another approach."

The DiSalle administration's problem is the same as that encountered by its predecessors. Since the law gives primary responsibility for law enforcement to local officials, the state's police authority is limited severely by the Legislature.

The Liquor Enforcement Division can use its police powers only where liquor permits are involved. The State Highway Patrol can deal with only those crimes committed on highways and on state-owned property.

The method used in Stark County allows the governor to request the attorney general to move in the locality with his own staff and conduct a special investigation. But DiSalle pointed out a drawback in this system several weeks ago.

"It's so cumbersome to put into motion," he said, "that by the time the investigators arrive on the scene, the underworld has had time to close up shop."

This was not exactly the situation in Stark County, because the prosecutor, the sheriff and Massillon police had pretty well closed down the rackets before the state probe was ordered.

DiSalle emphasized that he had no intention of "picking on" Stark County. He said his action was precipitated by a request from Edgar H. Turkel Jr. of Alliance, foreman of the May term Stark County Grand Jury, who went to Columbus to tell DiSalle he felt outside help was needed in the local rackets investigation.

"If we had not received this request, we would not have gone into Stark County," the governor said.

He pointed out that the earliest publicity of his administration on local gambling conditions around the state was centered on Jefferson and Belmont counties. This includes the presentation of evidence obtained by state liquor agents to regular grand juries in both counties. But no indictments were returned.

"The juries reported they saw no evidence of wrongdoing," the governor said with an ironic smile.

What methods can be used by the state in encouraging local officials to accept their statutory responsibility to enforce the law?

A couple of approaches are being considered, DiSalle said. One would be to withhold refunds or liquor permit money where the local enforcement is not up to par. In many cases these state funds represent a sizable part of the budget of local forces.

Another would be to keep continuing pressure on community authorities by sending them monthly reports of illegal activities in their area which have been noted by state agents.

Still another way of getting at gambling operations would be to request the removal of telephone and telegraph service to places suspected of gambling activities, such as holders of federal gambling stamps.

But here again the state is limited in its authority, the governor said. This can be done only where liquor permits are involved or where the attorney general has been ordered to conduct a special investigation.

To improve the quality of the state's own investigative force, DiSalle has ordered a reorganization of the Liquor Enforcement Division along the stringent lines that characterize the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The plan includes adoption of high initial qualifications, such as degrees in accountancy or law; higher pay to attract more qualified personnel and to reduce the temptation to take part in corrupt practices, and more extensive training such as that given to FBI agents.

To accomplish this on the present budget will necessitate cutting the size of the force perhaps in half, DiSalle indicated. But both the governor and his enforcement chief, Ivan Smith of Canton, believe the new smaller staff would do a better job than the present force of 80 men.

Another approach to the problem of racketeering likely to be pursued by DiSalle is the reintroduction in the next session of the general assembly of a criminal conspiracy bill. Such a measure was approved unanimously by the house last year but died in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The governor has said a conspiracy law would be the most effective single weapon in driving racketeers out of Ohio because it would reach the people who run the rackets rather than their hired hands.

After a little more than a year in office, DiSalle appears to have become painfully aware of the state's limitations in controlling commercialized vice. This would explain why he is considering a variety of approaches to the problem.

It also would indicate that he is as eager to learn the results of the Stark County probe as Stark contains are.

Ohio Printing Cost Study Progresses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's request for a study of state printing is moving right along, says Finance Director James H. Maloon.

DiSalle asked for the survey when it was shown that some departments were handling their own printing contrary to existing statutes.

There were no cost figures available, no uniformity in standards and no information on what was being printed, Maloon said.

The survey project will include a study of provisions and existing practices in relation to state printing. This will include facilities, paper purchases, operations of the being produced, the director said.

Air Force To Reissue Book Linking Churches, Commies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said today a controversial Air Force manual linking churches and Communists will be reissued without naming church groups or individuals.

Walter said after a closed session with Air Force Secretary Dudley C. Sharp that Sharp did not dispute the facts contained in the security training manual.

Sharp left the hearing room by another door and was not immediately available for comment.

Walter called Sharp before the committee to explain the withdrawal of the manual and his apology to Protestant church groups it linked with Communist infiltration. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. also apologized.

He said Sharp had explained the apology was made at the request of the National Council of Churches, Inc., an organization of Protestant churches named in the pamphlet.

"The secretary said he had no reason to believe any of the statements in the manual were untrue," Walter said, "but he thought the Air Force should follow a policy of not naming names, and the manual will be reissued on that basis."

Walter said he was satisfied with Sharp's explanation and would not make any further inquiry into withdrawal of the manual.

"I feel the Air Force was overly cautious in reacting the way it did," he said, "but if that is the way they feel about it, it is no concern of ours."

Walter, in a statement released before the hearing began, said his committee has found definite evidence that Communists have infiltrated church groups.

"It is a fact," he said, "that the Communists have duped a large number of the clergy as well as lay leaders of the churches into supporting Communist fronts and causes which masquerade behind deceitful facades of humanitarianism."

Cost of Living News Put in Happy Category

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The happiest news Thursday was the growing belief that the cost of living may have leveled off for awhile.

It will be leveling off at or near its record high. Some prices and fees will continue to climb. But others should ease, thus striking a balance.

The good news is that while it still will cost a lot to live as you are accustomed to, maybe it won't get any worse, for a change.

The belief is held by both those who shape up the consumer price index in Washington and observers of the commodity markets and the business scene in general.

All kinds of reasons are given for the belief—at least the hope —that further inflation has been sidetracked, if only for the time being. Taken together they could forecast a breather.

Abundance is the key word.
Almost all commodities are in good supply. Some are in surplus, and the stress now is more on trying to keep them from glutting domestic or world markets rather than pressure to send prices higher.

Food is the biggest item in most budgets. Food prices will fluctuate with the seasons. But given prospects of a good harvest later on, the housewife's over-all good budget shouldn't change much for awhile.

Most industrial materials also are in good supply and purchasing agents shouldn't have to scramble for anything but the most special or intricate items.

And with retail stores mostly well stocked and sales rivalry growing, or at least unabated, an eye on the newspaper ads should help housewives keep most spending in line.

The success of most post-Christmas clearance sales shows that consumers are well aware of this.

Many manufacturers have good reasons to want to raise prices.
In many cases their operating costs have risen. But in only a few cases have prices risen as much as operating costs.

Part of this is due to greater plant efficiency as management strives to hold down costs. Part is due to the use of better equipment and sometimes of new and better plants.

But a chief factor is the greater capacity to produce in most industries. One way to increase use of surplus capacity is to boost sales by keeping prices down.
Usually, just around the corner, is a rival who will undersell you if you don't.

DiSalle Anti-Vice Campaign To Hinge on Canton Probe

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says his administration's future efforts to stamp out racketeering in Ohio will depend to a large extent on the outcome of the attorney general's investigation of commercialized gambling and vice in Stark County.

Joseph Ralston, named by Atty.
Gen. Mark McElroy to head the probe, and his staff are now presented to a special grand jury of Stark counties the evidence gathered from the investigation launched last August at the request of the governor.

Another two to three months is expected to elapse before the presentation is completed and the evidence warrants indictments.

"We are looking for some type of pattern to use in attacking commercialized crime," DiSalle said,
"and this is one approach. Our future conduct is going to be gauged on the success of the Stark County investigation."

"If it works out there, we'll probably use it elsewhere in the state. If it does not prove as successful as we hoped, we'll look for another approach."

The DiSalle administration's problem is the same as that encountered by its predecessors.
Since the law gives primary responsibility for law enforcement to local officials, the state's police authority is limited severely by the Legislature.

The Liquor Enforcement Division can use its police powers only where liquor permits are involved.
The State Highway Patrol can deal with only those crimes committed on highways and on state-owned property.

The method used in Stark County allows the governor to request the attorney general to move in the locality with his own staff and conduct a special investigation.
But DiSalle pointed out a drawback in this system several weeks ago.

"It's so cumbersome to put into motion," he said, "that by the time the investigators arrive on the scene, the underworld has had time to close up shop."

This was not exactly the situation in Stark County, because the prosecutor, the sheriff and Massillon police had pretty well closed down the rackets before the state probe was ordered.

DiSalle emphasized that he had no intention of "picking on" Stark County. He said his action was precipitated by a request from Edgar H. Turkel Jr. of Alliance, foreman of the May term Stark County Grand Jury, who went to Columbus to tell DiSalle he felt outside help was needed in the local rackets investigation.

"If we had not received this request, we would not have gone into Stark County," the governor said.

He pointed out that the earliest publicity of his administration on local gambling conditions around the state was centered on Jefferson and Belmont counties. This includes the presentation of evidence obtained by state liquor agents to regular grand juries in both counties. But no indictments were returned.

"The juries reported they saw no evidence of wrongdoing," the governor said with an ironic smile.

What methods can be used by the state in encouraging local officials to accept their statutory responsibility to enforce the law?

A couple of approaches are being considered, DiSalle said. One would be to withhold refunds or liquor permit money where the local enforcement is not up to par.
In many cases these state funds represent a sizable part of the budget of local forces.

Another would be to keep continuing pressure on community authorities by sending them monthly reports of illegal activities in their area which have been noted by state agents.

Still another way of getting at gambling operations would be to request the removal of telephone and telegraph service to places suspected of gambling activities, such as holders of federal gambling stamps.

But here again the state is limited in its authority, the governor said. This can be done only where liquor permits are involved or where the attorney general has been ordered to conduct a special investigation.

To improve the quality of the state's own investigative force, Di-Salle has ordered a reorganization of the Liquor Enforcement Division along the stringent lines that characterize the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The plan includes adoption of high initial qualifications, such as degrees in accountancy or law; higher pay to attract more qualified personnel and to reduce the temptation to take part in corrupt practices, and more extensive training such as that given to FBI agents.

To accomplish this on the present budget will necessitate cutting the size of the force perhaps in half, DiSalle indicated. But both the governor and his enforcement chief, Ivan Smith of Canton, believe the new smaller staff would do a better job than the present force of 80 men.

Another approach to the problem of racketeering likely to be pursued by DiSalle is the reintro-duction in the next session of the general assembly of a criminal conspiracy bill. Such a measure was approved unanimously by the house last year but died in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The governor has said a conspiracy law would be the most effective single weapon in driving racketeers out of Ohio because it would reach the people who run the rackets rather than their hired hands.

After a little more than a year in office, DiSalle appears to have become painfully aware of the state's limitations in controlling commercialized vice. This would explain why he is considering a variety of approaches to the problem.

It also would indicate that he is as eager to learn the results of the Stark County probe as Stark countains are.

Ohio Printing Cost Study Progresses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov.
Michael V. DiSalle's request for a study of state printing is moving right along, says Finance Director James H. Maloon.

DiSalle asked for the survey when it was shown that some departments were handling their own printing contrary to existing standards.

There were no cost figures available, no uniform yin standards and no information on what was being printed, Maloon said.

The survey project will include a study of provisions and existing practices in relation to state printing. This will include facilities, paper purchases, operations of the being produced, the director said.

Air Force To Reissue Book Linking Churches, Commies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said today a controversial Air Force manual linking churches and Communists will be reissued without naming church groups or individuals.

Walter said after a closed session with Air Force Secretary Dudley C. Sharp that Sharp did not dispute the facts contained in the security training manual.

another door and was not immediately available for comment.

Walter called Sharp before the committee to explain the withdrawal of the manual and his apology to Protestant church groups it linked with Communist infiltration. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. also apologized.

He said Sharp had explained the apology was made at the request of the National Council of Churches, Inc., an organization of Protestant churches named in the pamphlet.

"The secretary said he had no reason to believe any of the statements in the manual were untrue," Walter said, "but he thought the Air Force should follow a policy of not naming names, and the manual will be reissued on that basis."

Walter said he was satisfied with Sharp's explanation and would not make any further inquiry into withdrawal of the manual.

"I feel the Air Force was overly cautious in reacting the way it did," he said, "but if that is the way they feel about it, it is no concern of ours."

Walter, in a statement released before the hearing began, said his committee has found definite evidence that Communists have infiltrated church groups.

"It is a fact," he said, "that the Communists have duped a large number of the clergy as well as lay leaders of the churches into supporting Communist fronts and causes which masquerade behind deceitful facades of humanitarianism."

Carolyn Callihan Becomes Bride of Mr. Allen Harper

The Church of the Brethren was the setting for the February 6 wedding of Miss Carolyn Callihan and Mr. Allen Harper.

The Rev. Henry Mankey performed the double ring ceremony which took place at 7:30 p. m. The altar was decorated with pink and white gladioli and candelabra.

A program of nuptial music by Mrs. Francis Cupp preceded the ceremony.

Miss Callihan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Callihan, Town St. Mr. Harper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gay Harper, Williamsport.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a gown of white pure silk organza over taffeta which fell into princess lines.

Maid of honor was Miss Sharmer Callihan, sister of the bride. Barbara Downing was bridesmaid.

They wore dresses styled over identical lines made of nylon chiffon over taffeta with satin trim midriffs.

Deborah Callihan was flower girl. She was attired in a dress of powder blue lace over taffeta. Her half-hat was of carnations. She carried a basket centered with roses. Mark Davey was ring bearer.

'Neigh' to You Horse Laughers

DEAR ABBY: Our cousin is getting married. He asked my brother and me to be ushers at his wedding.

We just found out that the bride's sister (we call her "Horseface") is going to sing.

"Horseface" takes singing lessons but when she sings people laugh at her. Her voice is high and screechy. When she reaches for the high notes, the veins in her neck stand out and her face turns purple. Every time my brother and I even think of "Horseface" singing, we go into hysterics.

The ushers will be right in front, facing the people. Our mother says if we can't control ourselves when "Horseface" sings we shouldn't accept the honor of being ushers. Would it be wrong of us to ask our cousin if he can get "Horseface" off the program?

WANT TO BE USHERS
DEAR WANT: If you can't control yourselves when "Horseface" sings, say "neigh" to being ushers. It is out of order to express your opinion of the vocalist. Especially since she is the bride's sister.

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls who works with me asked my advice and I don't know what to tell her. You guessed it. She's going to have a baby and she isn't married. The guy says he will marry her but according to this girl she doesn't want to live with him because she doesn't care for him enough. But she wants to give the baby a name. She plans on marrying him and then divorcing him later. I told her she'd be ahead to apply for help from a local agency and forget about marrying him because in this day and age an unwed mother has a better chance than a divorcee. She's from off a farm and her father is a minister so she can't go home. Is my advice what you'd call good or not?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: Marriage should be forever. To marry a man with intention of divorcing him (even to give a child a name) is unwise. Your friend should call her local Family Service Association, or a home for unwed mothers for help in making arrangements. She can probably get support money from the baby's father.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Smith Hulse Re-Elected Guild 37 Head

Election of officers highlighted Berger Hospital Guild No. 37 meeting held Wednesday evening in the bus station. Miss Ruth Hulse was hostess.

Carolyn Callihan Becomes Bride of Mr. Allen Harper

The Church of the Brethren was the setting for the February 6 wedding of Miss Carolyn Callihan and Mr. Allen Harper.

The Rev. Henry Mankey performed the double ring ceremony which took place at 7:30 p. m. The altar was decorated with pink and white gladioli and candelabra.

A program of nuptial music by Mrs. Francis Cupp preceded the ceremony.

Miss Callihan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Callihan, Town St. Mr. Harper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gay Harper, Williamsport.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a gown of white pure silk, organza over taffeta which fell into princess lines.

The bateau neckline was accented by appliques and sequins. The flounced bottom of her gown fell into a chapel train.

Maid of honor was Miss Sharmar Callihan, sister of the bride. Barbara Downing was bridesmaid.

They wore dresses styled over identical lines made of nylon chiffon over taffeta with satin trim midriffs.

Winter Olympic Fare To Run Out Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Squaw Valley athletes pack up Sunday, which will give the nation's television viewers a chance to rest and recover from snow blindness. Aside from the Olympic Winter Games, the next seven days of televising promise to be leisurely and mostly entertainment.

Tonight, for example, there's the Telephone Hour (NBC, 8:30-9:30 Eastern Standard Time) with Polly Bergen, John Raitt and the Hamilton trio providing the singing and dancing. There will also be the men's skating finals from Squaw Valley (CBS, 9-10). CBS' Eyewitness to History series (10:30-11) will show us President Eisenhower in Rio de Janeiro.

The Olympics ice hockey will be played Saturday (CBS, 4-5:30-7) and on Sunday afternoon we can catch the 80-meter men's ski jumping and the closing ceremonies (CBS, 2-5) NBC's Sunday showcase is Archibald MacLeish's "Secret of Freedom," starring Tony Randall and Kim Hunter.

Bing Crosby has one of his occasional specials on ABC Monday night (8:30-9:30) with Perry Como as his guest star, plus three of the four Crosby brothers. Later in the evening (10-11) there is NBC's "Paris a la Mode," with emphasis on the clothes of 15 of the great French dressmakers.

Helen Hayes is hostess on another of the CBS "Woman" series Tuesday afternoon (3-4), this one concerned with the problems of growing old. NBC's Startime (8:30-9:30) is a Civil War saga, "Jeff McLeod, The Last Reb." And Red Skelton (CBS, 9:30-10) has Mae West as his guest.

ABC's new series, "Music for a Spring Night," starts Wednesday (7:30-8:30) and Circle Theatre (CBS, 10-11) shows us how New York police recently posed as beatniks to round up a narcotics ring.

President Eisenhower's visit to Argentina, Chile and Uruguay will be shown on NBC's "Journey to Understanding" program Thursday (7:30-8 p.m.).

Liquor Aide's Case Studied By State

CLEVELAND (AP) — Paul S. Benson, a member of the State Personnel Board of Review, said Thursday the reinstatement appeal chief Michael T. Corsaro has not been officially ruled on.

Benson said he and Minor Kirshner, another board member, had indicated to Corsaro they felt his appeal should be in court, not before the board.

However, all three board members must meet and rule on the issue before a decision is official. Benson said a decision may be available next week.

The delay was caused by the illness of the third board member, Carl Smith, he said.

Corsaro said he would take the case to court, if necessary. He resigned, then withdrew his resignation, after being accused of pocketing $50 left in his office by Peter Reid, a tavern manager.

Corsaro contends that the acceptance of his resignation by Liquor Director Robert C. Crouch—after the withdrawal—constitutes a dismissal.

The former Liquor Department official said he had not received the last pay check to which he was entitled. He said he thinks state officials had been "heartless" toward him.

Earlier this week, Reid was quoted as saying he would not testify against Corsaro on the alleged bribery charge before either a grand or a petit jury. County officials dismissed the case for lack of evidence.

Lawyers Beef Defense for Finch Friend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorneys launch their last-ditch defense today.

It will probably be their final chance to convince a jury that Carole didn't conspire with her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, to slay his wife. The couple is charged with murdering socialite Barbara Jean Finch, 36, last July 18.

Miss Tregoff's three lawyers launched closing arguments Wednesday with a strong hint that Dr. Finch, 42, could be guilty and his 23-year-old mistress innocent.

Then a juror's toothache halted the trial for a day—giving Dr. Finch and his attorney time to ponder this question: Will Carole's lawyers claim the doctor is guilty—in a desperate move to save the girl?

Juror Eddie L. Lindsey 28, received treatment for an impacted wisdom tooth Thursday and the court decided to hold trial today, although earlier it was adjourned until Monday.

Air Crash in Rio Wipes Out Talented Navy Band Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sudden collision of planes in fog high over Rio de Janeiro's lovely bay has wiped out a select group of the most talented musicians in the world-famous Navy Band.

The news that 19 Navy musicians were among the more than 60 persons killed in Thursday's tragedy shocked and saddened those they left behind at home. Many lived in southeast Washington or in Virginia and Maryland not far from the old Navy Yard, where the band had its headquarters in an old, unused sail loft.

Many of the victims had been with the band for 20 years or more. They were selected for the Rio trip because of their double talents in both martial band music and intricate orchestral classics.

Just before Musician I.C. Vincent P. Tramontana, 29, left on the South American tour, his wife Beatrice was called to New York where her mother had suffered a stroke. Then their 4-year-old son had an asthmatic attack and had to have an emergency operation to place a breathing tube in his throat.

Indians Get Real Scalping From Hollywood, Actor Says

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the American Indian getting a bum break from Hollywood? Nineteen tribal chiefs think so. So does today's most successful screen Indian.

Recently 19 chiefs of Oklahoma tribes sent letters to the President, the secretary of the interior, the FCC chairman, Oklahoma congressmen and others decrying the way Indians are portrayed by the film makers. They drew hearty support from Michael Ansara.

Mike is no more Indian than Danny Thomas. Like Danny, his forebears came from the tiny country of Lebanon (by sheer coincidence, Mike was reared in Lebanon, N.H.).

He was a dramatic actor — played in the movie "Julius Caesar," enacted Judas in "The Robe." But his broad face and big build made him ideal for Indian roles. He was chosen out of 100 to portray the famous chief Cochise in the TV series, "Broken Arrow." Now he is starring as the full-blooded Indian who is U.S. marshal in another series, "Law of the Plainsman."

Says Ansara: "I agree the Indians have been treated badly in movies and TV, just as they were treated badly in history."

"With the advent of the Western film, the Indian became a stereotype as the villain. I think it's wrong. I even object to the childhood game of cowboys and Indians, because it means the Indians are automatically the villains."

An increase was noted last year, for the first time in five years, in the single-engine, one and two-seater plane category. Almost all the 1,479 aircraft registered in this class are privately owned pleasure craft, and the total had been dropping by about 80 a year since 1954.

Jury Seated Tentatively For Ironton Hearing

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—The 12 Jurors for the first-degree murder trial of Billy Joe Schaffer have been seated tentatively, after questioning of 188 of the prospective list of 700. An alternate juror remains to be chosen. Both the state and the defense can challenge those jurors seated.

Schaffer, 24, is on trial for his life in the 1958 slaying of his former school teacher, Mrs. Emma Rey, in a 28-cent robbery.

President smilingly said he would telephone his wife to tell her about it.

Winter Olympic Fare
To Run Out Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Squaw Valley athletes pack up Sunday, which will give the nation's television viewers a chance to rest and recover from snow blindness.

Aside from the Olympic Winter Games, the next seven days of television promise to be leisurely and mostly entertainment.

Tonight, for example, there's the Telephone Hour (NBC, 8:30-9:30 Eastern Standard Time) with Polly Bergen, John Raitt and the Hamilton trio providing the singing and dancing. There will also be the men's skating finals from Squaw Valley (CBS, 9-10). CBS' Eyewitness to History series (10:30-11) will show us President Eisenhower in Rio de Janeiro.

The Olympics ice hockey will be played Saturday (CBS, 4:30-7) and on Sunday afternoon we can catch the 80-meter men's ski jumping and the closing ceremonies (CBS, 2-5) NBC's Sunday showcase is Archibald MacLeish's "Secret of Freedom," starring Tony Randall and Kim Hunter.

Bing Crosby has one of his occasional specials on ABC Monday night (8:30-9:30) with Perry Como as his guest star, plus three of the four Crosby brothers. Later in the evening (10-11) there is NBC's "Paris a la Mode," with emphasis on the clothes of 15 of the great French dressmakers.

Helen Hayes is hostess on another of the CBS "Woman" series Tuesday afternoon (3-4), this one concerned with the problems of growing old. NBC's Startime (8:30-9:30) is a Civil War saga, "Jeff McLeod, The Last Reb." And Red Skelton (CBS, 9:30-10) has Mae West as his guest.

ABC's new series, "Music for a Spring Night," starts Wednesday (7:30-8:30) and Circle Theatre (CBS, 10-11) shows us how New York police recently posed as beatniks to round up a narcotics ring.

President Eisenhower's visit to Argentina, Chile and Uruguay will be shown on NBC's "Journey to Understanding" program Thursday (7:30-8 p.m.).

Liquor Aide's Case Studied By State

CLEVELAND (AP) — Paul S. Benson, a member of the State Personnel Board of Review, said Thursday the reinstatement appeal chief Michael T. Corsaro has not been officially ruled on.

Benson said he and Minor Kirshner, another board member, had indicated to Corsaro they felt his appeal should be in court, not before the board.

However, all three board members must meet and rule on the issue before a decision is official. Benson said a decision may be available next week.

The delay was caused by the illness of the third board member, Carl Smith, it was said.

Corsaro said he would take the case to court, if necessary. He resigned, then withdrew his resignation, after being accused of pocketing $50 left in his office by Peter Reid, a tavern manager.

Corsaro contends that the acceptance of his resignation by Liquor Director Robert C. Crouch—after the withdrawal—constitutes a dismissal.

The former Liquor Department official said he had not received the last pay check to which he was entitled. He said he thinks state officials had been "heartless" toward him.

Lawyers Beef Defense for Finch Friend

It will probably be their final chance to convince a jury that Carole didn't conspire with her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, to slay his wife. The couple is charged with murdering socialite Barbara Jean Finch, 36, last July 18.

Miss Tregoff's three lawyers launched closing arguments Wednesday with a strong hint that Dr. Finch, 42, could be guilty and his 23-year-old mistress innocent.

Then a juror's toothache halted the trial for a day—giving Dr. Finch and his attorney time to ponder this question:

Will Carole's lawyers claim the doctor is guilty—in a desperate move to save the girl?

Juror Eddie L. Lindsey 28, received treatment for an impacted wisdom tooth Thursday and the court decided to hold trial today, although earlier it was adjourned until Monday.

Tramontana's mother has a heart condition. Relatives didn't know whether they should tell her of her son's death. Tramontana, of Hyattsville, Md., was a violinist and joined the Navy Band 10 years ago after studying at New York's Juilliard School of Music.

Wives of several of the men said their husbands disliked flying. "But he didn't make an issue of it," said distraught Marjorie Albrecht, wife of Musician 2.C William F. Albrecht.

Chief Musician Jerome Rosenthal had been planning to retire within a year. Between hitches in the Navy, he had been a violinist with the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington and the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra. His wife, Frances, and two teenage children live here.

Lt. Johann J. Fultz had headed the unit that flew to Rio for a rendezvous with death. He had been assistant leader of the entire Navy Band since 1956 and had distinguished himself as soloist, conductor and composer in a Navy Band career that spanned 25 years.

The Navy Band, an outgrowth of a hundred years of enthusiastic amateur performers on American warships, was organized in 1924.

Now made up of 128 men, it has played in a thousand cities here and abroad.

Ohio Plane Permit Record Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With the return of good flying weather, aircraft registrations in Ohio may soar to new heights, state aviation chief C. E. A. Brown thinks.

To date, 2,614 airplanes have been registered with the Division of Aviation in 1960. Last year's total was 3,341, a jump of 160 over 1958.

An increase was noted last year, for the first time in five years, in the single-engine, one and two-seater plane category. Almost all the 1,479 aircraft registered in this class are privately owned pleasure craft, and the total had been dropping by about 80 a year since 1954.

State Plans Transfer of Aged Patients

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state will begin transferring more than 3,000 aged patients from Ohio's mental hospitals to private nursing homes early in April.

The transfer will put the patients under the Aid for the Aged program in which the federal government pays 52 to 55 per cent of the cost. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle estimated this will save the state about three million dollars.

Dr. R. C. Anderson, acting commissioner of mental hygiene, said 812 beds in nursing homes have been found so far. Of these, he said, 434 are for ambulatory patients who need little supervision, 237 are for bedfast patients and 141 are for custodial patients who need supervision but are not bedfast.

Three state departments are taking part in the plan. The patients and mental hospitals are under the department of mental hygiene and correction, welfare administers the Aid for the Aged funds, and the nursing homes are supervised by the Health Department.

Yank Reporter, Khrushchev Argue About Baseball Caps and Goodwill

EDITOR'S NOTE: As an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow for three years, Roy Essoyan encountered Nikita Khrushchev many times in many moods. Essoyan, now an AP correspondent in Southeast Asia, has met Khrushchev again, this time finding the Premier in a bantering, bubbling tourist mood. Here is Essoyan's account of their conversation, which was held in Russian.

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and I argued the merits of American baseball caps and the rigors of international goodwill tours this week.

The discussion, held in an Indonesian rest house near the ancient Borobudur Temple in central Java startled Soviet and Indonesian officials.

Khrushchev was at his best, clowning and bubbling with good humor. His behavior, soon after the most anti-American speech of his current Southeast Asian tour, reflected his changeable disposition.

He was friendly, brusquely charming, and even shushed some of his aides who tried to warn him against my views.

Khrushchev and his party were relaxing after climbing around Borobudur, a thousand-year-old Buddhist monument whose terraces depict the life of Buddha in intricate stone carvings. The Premier beckoned me over to the seat beside him, which Indonesian President Sukarno had just vacated.

I took off my crumpled blue denim baseball cap as I sat down. Khrushchev grabbed it, examined it and waved it around.

"This is the sort of thing that baffles me about the United States," he said. "America is such a rich country and you Americans wear rags like this."

"That's no rag," I said. "It may not be very beautiful, but it's very handy at baseball games and for chasing you around these islands under the hot Indonesian sun."

Khrushchev took another quizzical look at the cap. Khrushchev slapped the cap on his head and posed for photographers.

"It must keep the sun off very well," he said. "It looks very utilitarian."

One aide leaned over his shoulder to warn him that I had spent three years in the Soviet Union (as an AP correspondent).

"I know," Khrushchev answered, apparently unperturbed.

"He wrote bad things about the Soviet Union," the aide persisted. Khrushchev turned to me and asked, "What did you write?"

"I wrote what I saw," I said. "The good and the bad."

"There was more bad than good," another aide interjected.

"It's all in the point of view," I said. "I don't like much of what appears in your press and you don't like much of what you read in ours. You have your views and we have ours."

Khrushchev nodded solemnly in agreement.

"We have different points of view and the only important thing is to be honest," he said.

An aide pointed out that I was of Armenian origin but an American Armenian. The implication was that any Armenian outside the Soviet Union was not to be trusted.

"It's not your origin that matters," he said. "All a mother does is to give birth. After that you mould your own future."

Asked how he thought the trip was going, he took it personally. "I'm enjoying it tremendously," he replied.

I asked him if he found the trip trying. The 65-year-old Soviet leader arrived in New Delhi nearly two weeks ago looking tired and listless. Since then he had shown occasional sparks of fire, but most of the time he looked hot and weary.

"I'm taking it fine," Khrushchev said, "much better than I had expected."

"Isn't the heat bothering you?" I asked.

"I take Sukarno's advice," Khrushchev laughed. "I dunk my head in cold water every time I get a chance and it does wonders. I don't feel tired at all."

GOVERNOR'S CHESSMAN CASE MAIL SWAMPS OFFICE—Charlotte Thomas, secretary to California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, leafs through some of the thousands of letters and telegrams received at the governor's office in Sacramento since he granted a 60-day reprieve to Caryl Chessman, the convict-author's eighth. Some of the mail praised the governor, and some condemned his action.

Editor Urges Bigger U.S. Space Effort

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Americans have a strong desire, first to win, and second to survive, and can accomplish both in today's crucial space race if aggressive national leadership is provided, Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver, Colo., Post, said here.

In a press conference Hoyt said: "President Eisenhower is preoccupied with peace, and that is good, but he is confused if he thinks affluence and prosperity equals strength."

Containing that the nation is in no needplace in the competition with Russia, Hoyt suggested the American people are not happy with the situation, and will be quick to do something about it if national leaders and the press point up the need.

Nearly two thirds of Mexico's 32 million people are without electricity.

'Boatel' Idea Under Study In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A "boatel" on Cleveland's lakefront?

Why not, what with a couple of 18-million-dollar Grace Line cruise ships available at a mere one million dollars each.

William J. Rogers, director of the Department of Port Control, says his office has been asked about the possibility of dock space for one of the cruise ships.

He said the query came from Sam Abrams of the Ohio Advertising Co. Abrams reportedly was speaking for a group which is toying with the idea of converting each of the vessels into a 300-room floating hotel, one for Cleveland and one for Chicago.

Below the plush superstructures of the ships, space could be cleared for parking cars by removing superfluous machinery and equipment.

The vessels are the Santa Paula and the Santa Rosa, both in excellent condition after being refurbished at great expense a few years ago. Because of certain provisions of the Maritime Administration subsidy program, the government will not permit Grace to operate the ships, and they must be sold.

Unfortunately, said Rogers, there seems to be no place for a "boatel" on Cleveland's waterfront.

"I don't know where we'd find the space," he said. "Further, no space is leased except on a competitive basis."

"Then we must consider that the navigable waters of Lake Erie are held by the state of Ohio in trust for the federal government. That means the state must authorize a permit for use of the waterways."

Khrushchev waved the remark aside.

"It's not your origin that matters," he said. "All a mother does is to give birth. After that you mould your own future."

Asked how he thought the trip was going, he took it personally.

"I'm enjoying it tremendously," he replied.

I asked him if he found the trip trying. The 65-year-old Soviet leader arrived in New Delhi nearly two weeks ago looking tired and listless. Since then he had shown occasional sparks of fire, but most of the time he looked hot and weary.

"I'm taking it fine," Khrushchev said, "much better than I had expected."

"Isn't the heat bothering you?" I asked.

Editor Urges Bigger U.S. Space Effort

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Americans have a strong desire, first to win, and second to survive, and can accomplish both in today's crucial space race if aggressive national leadership is provided, Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver, Colo., Post, said here.

In a press conference Hoyt said: "President Eisenhower is preoccupied with peace, and that is good, but he is confused if he thinks affluence and prosperity equals strength."

Contending that the nation is in no needplace in the competition with Russia, Hoyt suggested the American people are not happy with the situation, and will be quick to do something about it if national leaders and the press point up the need.

Three Matmen In Semifinals

Mogan, Owens, Rudd To Battle Tonight

Three members of the Circleville High School wrestling team travel to Franklin Heights today to participate in the district tournament semifinals. Action starts at 7 p. m.

Representing CHS will be Tim Mogan, Bob Owens and Rupert Rudd. All gained berths by coming through with wins in district competition Saturday.

Tournament finals are slated at 8 p. m. Saturday at Franklin Heights.

Mogan, a 106-pounder, will meet John Evans of Franklin Heights. Owens' opponent will be Mike Berry of Whitehall and Rudd will tangle with Gary Gabriel of Franklin Heights.

OWENS will battle in the 115-pound division and Rudd, about 235 pounds, will do the same in the heavyweight class.

Worthington leads the tourney so far in points with 31. Whitehall and Franklin Heights have 27 each. Upper Arlington has 26 and Circleville 22.

Stoutsville Loses to Pickerington

Stoutsville dropped its initial contest in the Fairfield County Basketball Tournament to Pickerington last night, 65-60.

The tourney, being held in the Denison University Fieldhouse, Granville, saw Bremen finally knock the pins out from under the tournament's cinderella team, Pleasantville, 35-35.

Bremen and Pickerington (18-2) will meet for the tourney championship at 9 p. m. Saturday while Stoutsville battles Pleasantville (9-12) at 7:30 p. m. for a third berth in the central district tourney which starts Monday.

The Indians made a valiant effort to unseat the Fairfield League champion and tournament favorite, but the Tigers jumped off to a 14-11 first quarter lead which they never relinquished.

ALL - OHIO candidate Steve Strome led his Picktown teammates with 23 points from the pivot. Co-captain Lorenz followed with 22 markers.

Bobby Sells found the mark for 15 points and Richard Bussert and James Anderson contributed 12 points apiece. Pickerington held the rebounding edge, 32-30.

The loss gave Stoutsville an overall record of 14-15 while Picktown added win No. 18 to its credit against two defeats. Stoutsville's Saturday night opponent, Pleasantville, lost to the Indians during the regular season, 65-59.

Stoutsville — Warner 3-0-6; Sells 7-1-15; Cole 3-1-7; Gwin 1-1-3; Anderson 8-0-12; Bussert 4-4-12; Jerry Smith 0-2-2; Crites 1-1-3. Totals 25-10-60.

VFW Takes Crown In Guard League

Veterans of Foreign Wars captured the National Guard cage league championship last night with an 89-88 victory over Ashville Lumber.

The regular season ended in a three-way tie, requiring a play-off. VFW downed Hunsicker's Elevator in a protested game Sunday, then cemented the crown last night.

The vital win last night gives VFW a seeded berth in the National Guard tournament which starts Monday.

EDDIE Tomlinson, Jack Young and Bill Johnson combined for the bulk of VFW's scoring. Tomlinson paced the show with 30 points, Young had 20 and Johnson. George Weller came through with eight important points in the final stages.

Russ Gregg, Ashville High School cage coach, led all scoring for the evening with 34 points. Dick Hoover coordinated for 20 and Dick Miller had 18.

After the game, VFW was presented the right to a championship team trophy and players received individual trophies.

According to league officials, the tournament will involve the other eight teams, with VFW seeded to meet the winner for the tourney championship.

District A Tournament Starts Monday

The Central District Class A Basketball Tournament starts Monday in the Denison University Fieldhouse, Granville, and Marion Coliseum, Marion.

Drawings for the district tourney will be 1 p. m. Sunday at Granville. A dinner will be served and the drawings will be held afterwards.

Each of the three Pickaway County representative team coaches and one guest will attend the dinner meeting at the expense of the district.

Each coach is to submit a regular eligibility list signed by the administrative head of his school.

THE FOLLOWING counties and their number of representative teams to participate at Marion are: Delaware, 1; Knox, 2; Marion, 3; Morrow, 2; Union, 2; and one non-county quintet.

The following number of teams will play at Granville: Pickaway, 3; Fairfield, 3; Franklin, 2; Licking, 2; Madison, 1, and one non-county representative.

The finals of the central district will be held March 11 in the Ohio State Fairgrounds' Coliseum.

The winner of the top bracket at Marion will play the bottom bracket winner at Granville and the bottom bracket champion at Marion will meet the top bracket winner from Granville. The two finalists will meet for the district title.

Two Pickaway County squads are assured of participating in the tourney. They are Ashville (19-2) and Williamsport (15-6) who will meet for the county crown at 9 p. m. today.

Darby (12-7) meets Saltcreek (9-9) in the consolation title to decide the third county representative. This game starts at 7 p. m. today. Both games will be played in the County Fairgrounds' Coliseum.

Richard Petty, 23, of Randleman, N. C., has been named NASCAR's rookie driver of 1959.

NYU, St. Johns Bid For Tourney Berths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York basketball, which has been streaking mostly toward oblivion since the 1950 scandals, has come up with a couple of late-season dandies just in time for the NCAA and National Invitation Tournaments.

That would be St. Johns, Joe Lapchick's underdog champ of the NIT a year ago, and New York University, building toward those old-time Violet dynasties under new coach Lou Rossini.

The Johnnies ran their winning streak to 11 and their record to 17-5 Thursday night with an 80-63 win over Manhattan. The victory climaxed a Madison Square Garden doubleheader and followed NYU's fifth straight victory and 16th in 19 starts, 76-70 over Temple.

While the Redmen and Violets were at it, North Carolina moved within one game of a first place tie in the Atlantic Coast Conference, West Virginia opened defense of its Southern Conference tournament title, and Utah and Utah State remained tied in the important Skyline Conference race.

West Virginia, champ of the Southern the last five years, began its tournament doings at Richmond with a 90-83 victory over VMI as All-America Jerry West scored 29 points and Willie Akers 21.

Fifth-ranked Utah, running its winning streak to 10, whipped Brigham Young 87-75 and eighth-ranked Utah State thumped Montana 89-63 in their Skyline duel.

HE IS MARRIED to the former Cynthia Johnson, daughter of William Johnson, Urbana, former state racing commissioner and owner of the great trotting stallion Fisherman (1:58).

Robert Steele will serve as general manager for the MARRA fall meeting at Scioto Downs. He also is business manager for Scioto Downs, Inc.

Chuck Stokes was appointed Director of Public Relations for MARRA. He also serves in a similar capacity for Scioto Downs.

The Mid-America Racing Assn. transferred its racing dates granted by the Ohio State Racing Commission to Scioto Downs from the Franklin County Fairgrounds.

Chester stated, "MARRA will continue the high standards of racing established by Scioto Downs during our fall meeting."

OSU Selling Tickets To NCAA Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University today began selling 1,300 tickets for its NCAA regional basketball tournament appearance March 11-12 at Louisville, Ky.

Ohio State, representing the Big Ten, plays its first game at 10:30 p. m. Friday, March 11, against either Miami (Fla.) or the winner of the Ohio Valley Conference, probably Western Kentucky. Miami and the OVC winner play a preliminary game at Lexington, Ky., to determine which meets Ohio State.

Lancaster Dog OK In National Test

UNION CITY, Ala. (AP) — George Calhoun, a gun dog owner and handler by Myron Stephat of Lancaster, Ohio, put on a good show at the 11th annual National Shooting Dog Championships Thursday.

Calhoun got one covey and one single find and was charged with one unproductive point in a preliminary heat. The field of 75 will be reduced to about 15 today.

U.S. Seeks More Olympic Medals

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews went prospecting for gold medals today with time running short in the 1960 Winter Olympic Games and Carol Heiss this nation's only winner to date.

The surprising U.S. hockey team that upset favored Canada 2-1 to grab the lead in the round-robin competition got the day off.

The Soviet Union, with six gold medals and 137 unofficial points credited, was expected to pick up more in both the women's 15 kilometer (9.3 miles) relay and the men's 1,500 meter speed skating. The United States had its biggest chances in the other two events.

Penny Pitou, with two silver medals, took her final shot at a gold one in the women's slalom ski race already virtually assured of winning the world combined title of the International Ski Federation (FIS).

The pony-tailed blonde from Gilford, N.H., leads the U.S. girls' team that so far hasn't come up to the pre-Olympic predictions.

Dave Jenkins, 23, the Western Reserve University medical student, goes out for the free-skating wrapup of the men's figure skating championships trailing Czechoslovakia's Karel Divin after the compulsory figures competition.

It was in figure skating that Miss Heiss, of Ozone Park, N.Y., won her crown.

Jenkins scored 77.5 in compulsory figures that count 60 percent toward the final score. Divin had 79.7 and France's Alain Gilette 76.1. Don Jackson of Canada scored 75.4 and Tim Brown of Sacramento, Calif., 74.8.

In the unofficial team scores, Germany held second place with 52½ with the United States at 44 and Sweden 42.

Thursday's biggest surprise came when the underdog Yankee hockey team stood off the Canadians as goalie Jack McCartan, former University of Minnesota star, came up with 39 stops. Teammates Bob Cleary and Paul Johnson scored for the winners and Jim Connelly for the Canadians.

The victory gave the United States a 3-0 record while the Soviet Union, tied on Wednesday by Sweden, swamped Germany 7-1 for a 2-0-1 record. That sets up Saturday's meeting between the challenging United States and the Soviet's defending Olympic champions.

Finland's 35-year-old veteran Veikko Hakulinen rallied on the anchor lap of the four-man, 40-kilometer cross-country relay to nip Norway's Hakon Bruseviken by eight tenths of a second in a total time of 2 hours, 18 minutes, 45.6 seconds in the 24.8 mile distance.

The Soviet Union took the bronze medal for third place with the

Laurelville 63-37 Victor

Laurelville wrapped up victory No. 14 last night with a 63-37 win over Murray City in the opener of the three-team Hocking County Tournament in Logan High School.

This was the second tilt in three days in which the Wildcats blasted Murray. Tuesday night Laurelville won its final league encounter from MC, 84-42.

Laurelville earned the right to meet Union Furnace (11-8) for the tourney championship at 8 p. m. Saturday at Logan. One team will represent Hocking in the district tournament.

Larry Keck was top point - maker for the Wildcats as he snared 16 points from his guard position. An improving Larry Unger and sophomore sensation, Max Young, each racked up 14 markers.

High man for Murray City was Roberts with 16 points. Laurelville was never headed after a 12-4 first quarter lead. Murray City completed its league season with a 5-12 record.

The championship game was contested all the way. VFW led, 20-16, at the first quarter mark, 44-34 at the half and 68-61 at the end of three quarters.

EDDIE Tomlinson, Jack Young and Bill Johnson combined for the bulk of VFW's scoring. Tomlinson paced the show with 30 points, Young had 20 and Johnson. George Weller came through with eight important points in the final stages.

Russ Gregg, Ashville High School cage coach, led all scoring for the evening with 34 points. Dick Hoover coordinated for 20 and Dick Miller had 18.

After the game, VFW was presented the right to a championship team trophy and players received individual trophies.

According to league officials, the tournament will involve the other eight teams, with VFW seeded to meet the winner for the tourney championship.

Other teams slated for action are Hunsicker's Elevator, Herff Jones, Ashville Lumber, Hanley's Pizza, National Guard, Route 23 Auto and 18.

District A Tournament Starts Monday

The Central District Class A Basketball Tournament starts Monday in the Denison University Fieldhouse, Granville, and Marion Coliseum, Marion.

Drawings for the district tourney will be 1 p. m. Sunday at Granville. A dinner will be served and the drawings will be held afterwards.

Each of the three Pickaway County representative team coaches and one guest will attend the dinner meeting at the expense of the district.

Each coach is to submit a regular eligibility list signed by the administrative head of his school.

THE FOLLOWING counties and their number of representative teams to participate at Marion are: Delaware, 1; Knox, 2; Marion, 3; Morrow, 2; and one non-county quintet.

The following number of teams will play at Granville: Pickaway, 3; Fairfield, 3; Franklin, 2; Licking, 2; Madison, 1, and one non-county representative.

The finals of the central district will be held March 11 in the Ohio State Fairgrounds' Coliseum.

The winner of the top bracket at Marion will play the bottom bracket winner at Granville and the bottom bracket champion at Marion will meet the top bracket winner from Granville. The two finalists will meet for the district title.

Two Pickaway County squads are assured of participating in the tourney. They are Ashville (19-2) and Williamsport (15-6) who will meet for the county crown at 9 p. m. today.

Darby (12-7) meets Saltcreek (9-9) in the consolation tilt to decide the third county representative. This game starts at 7 p. m. today. Both games will be played in the County Fairgrounds' Coliseum.

Richard Petty, 23, of Randleman, N. C., has been named NASCAR's rookie driver of 1959.

NYU, St. Johns Bid For Tourney Berths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York basketball, which has been streaking mostly toward oblivion since the 1950 scandals, has come up with a couple of late-season dandies just in time for the NCAA and National Invitation Tournaments.

That would be St. Johns, Joe Lapchick's underdog champ of the NIT a year ago, and New York University, building toward those old-time Violet dynasties under new coach Lou Rossini.

The Johnnies ran their winning streak to 11 and their record to 17-5 Thursday night with an 80-62 win over Manhattan. The victory climaxed a Madison Square Garden doubleheader and followed NYU's fifth straight victory and 16th in 19 starts, 76-70 over Temple.

While the Redmen and Violets were at it, North Carolina moved within one game of a first place tie in the Atlantic Coast Conference, West Virginia opened defense of its Southern Conference tournament title, and Utah and Utah State remained tied in the important Skyline Conference race.

West Virginia, champ of the Southern the last five years, began its tournament doings at Richmond with a 90-83 victory over VMI as All-America Jerry West scored 29 points and Willie Akers 21.

Fifth-ranked Utah, running its winning streak to 10, whipped Brigham Young 87-75 and eighth-ranked Utah State thumped Montana 89-63 in their Skyline duel.

OSU Selling Tickets To NCAA Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University today began selling 1,300 tickets for its NCAA regional basketball tournament appearance March 11-12 at Louisville, Ky.

Ohio State, representing the Big Ten, plays its first game at 10:30 p. m. Friday, March 11, against either Miami (Fla.) or the winner of the Ohio Valley Conference, probably Western Kentucky. Miami and the OVC winner play a preliminary game at Lexington, Ky., to determine which meets Ohio State.

Lancaster Dog OK In National Test

UNION CITY, Ala. (AP) — George Calhoun, a gun dog owned and handled by Myron Stepath of Lancaster, Ohio, put on a good show at the 11th annual National Shooting Dog Championships Thursday.

Calhoun got one covey and one single find and was charged with one unproductive point in a preliminary heat. The field of 75 will be reduced to about 15 today.

U.S. Seeks More Olympic Medals

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews went prospecting for gold medals today with time running short in the 1960 Winter Olympic Games and Carol Heiss this nation's only winner to date.

The surprising U.S. hockey team that upset favored Canada 3-1 to grab the lead in the round-robin competition got the day off.

The Soviet Union, with six gold medals and 137 unofficial points credited, was expected to pick up more in both the women's 15 kilometer (9.3 miles) relay and the men's 1,500 meter speed skating. The United States had its biggest chances in the other two events.

Penny Pitou, with two silver medals, took her final shot at a gold one in the women's slalom ski race already virtually assured of winning the world combined title of the International Ski Federation (FIS).

The pony-tailed blonde from Gilford, N.H., leads the U.S. girls' team that so far hasn't come up to the pre-Olympic predictions.

Dave Jenkins, 23, the Western Reserve University medical student, goes out for the free-skating wrap-up of the men's figure skating championships trailing Czechoslovakia's Karel Divin after the compulsory figures competition.

It was in figure skating that Miss Heiss, of Ozone Park, N.Y., won her crown.

Jenkins scored 775.2 in compulsory figures that count 60 per cent toward the final score. Divin had 797.7 and France's Alain Gilet 761.7. Don Jackson of Canada scored 751.4 and Tim Brown of Sacramento, Calif., 748.9.

In the unofficial team scores, Germany held second place with 52 1/2 with the United States at 44 and Sweden 42.

Thursday's biggest surprise came when the underdog Yankee hockey team stood off the Canadians as goalie Jack McCartan, former University of Minnesota star, came up with 39 stops. Teammates Bob Cleary and Paul Johnson scored for the winners and Jim Connelly for the Canadians.

The victory gave the United States a 3-0 record while the Soviet Union, tied on Wednesday by Sweden, swamped Germany 7-1 for a 2-0-1 record. That sets up Saturday's meeting between the challenging United States and the Soviet's defending Olympic champions.

Finland's 35-year-old veteran Veliko Hakulinen rallied on the anchor lap of the four-man, 40-kilometer cross-country relay to nip Norway's Hakon Brusveen by eight tenths of a second in a total time of 2 hours, 18 minutes, 45.6 seconds in the 24.8 mile distance. The Soviet Union took the bronze medal for third place with the United States last in the 11-team field.

The Soviet's Viktor Kostichkin captured the 5,000-meter men's speed skating race in 7 minutes 51.3 seconds. Knut Johannessen of Norway came in second in 8:00.9 and Holland's Jan Pesman was third in 8:08.1. Best for a United States racer was a 14th place by Arnold Uhrlass of Yonkers, N. Y.

Ward's Market maintained its first place standing in the Wednesday Night Classic bowling league here this week with 31 wins and 27 losses.

High team single game went to Circle "D" Recreation on 1,007 pins. Brunner's Jewelers took high three - game series with 2,870.

Woody Carley rolled high individual game with 214 pins. Dave Olney was high for three games with a 591, following last week's 627.

Jackson Boosters Meet

The Jackson Twp. Booster Club will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the school.

Early Monday Scatters Pins

Pins hitting the hardwood accented action in the Early Monday Night bowling league here this week.

Circleville Metal reaped team honors by posting a single game 1,025 and a three-game total of 2,905 pins. The Metal team now stands high in the league for single and three-game totals.

Bill McKinney grabbed honors by posting a season high three-game series on a total of 614 pins and a 634 with handicap.

Several bowlers hit the 200 bracket. McKinney had a 235, Jack Black, 219, Jim Canning 213 and 216, Lloyd Edgington 214, Walt Halstenberg 204, Don Thrasher 207, Gordy Fraser 203, and Bill Hew-ton 202 and 201.

Other high series games were turned in by Wayne Craig, 608; Jim Canning, 590; Jack Black, 562; Bill Barthelmas, 545; Lloyd Edgington, 540; Gordy Fraser, 536; Chuck Tomlinson, 527; John Greenwell, 532; Bill Hewton, 527; Pete Noble, 524; Don Flieri, 520; and Dick Robbins, 520.

Laurelville 63-37 Victor

Laurelville wrapped up victory No. 14 last night with a 63-37 win over Murray City in the opener of the three-team Hocking County Tournament in Logan High School.

This was the second tilt in three days in which the Wildcats blasted Murray. Tuesday night Laurelville won its final league encounter from MC, 84-42.

Laurelville earned the right to meet Union Furnace (11-8) for the tourney championship at 8 p. m. Saturday at Logan. One team will represent Hocking in the district tournament.

Larry Keck was top point - maker for the Wildcats as he snared 16 points from his guard position. An improving Larry Unger and sophomore sensation, Max Young, each racked up 14 markers.

High man for Murray City was Roberts with 16 points. Laurelville was never headed after a 12-4 first quarter lead. Murray City completed its league season with a 5-12 record.

Laurelville — Keck, 7-5-16; Staks, 0-1-1; Young, 5-4-16; Waggon, 1-0-2; L. Unger, 3-4-14; Smith, 1-0-2; J. Unger, 3-2-8; Kheri, 2-2-6. Totals 24-15-63.

Detroit Coach Luke Appling Recalls Old Aches, Pains

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Luke Appling watched the rain against the clubhouse window. He shivered.

"I feel awful," he moaned. "I got aches and pains all over."

"That's great, Luke," said Detroit Manager Jimmy Dykes, sitting nearby. "If you keep feeling this way we ought to have a terrific season."

Dykes recommended the hiring of Appling as Tiger coach this past winter. Appling was Jimmy's star shortstop when he managed the Chicago White Sox from 1934 to 1946.

"The time to worry is when Ol' Aches 'n' Pains here says he feeling fine," explained Dykes. "As mises, the following described real estate situated in the County of Pickaway, State of Ohio and in the Township of Washington and bounded and described as follows: Being a part of the Northwest Quarter of Section No. 11, Township No. 11, Range No. 21, W. S. Beginning at a corner stone, the Northwest corner of Edson B. Heise (now Musser) tract of land and in a public road, thence N. 24 deg. 00' W. 230.0 feet to a stake and corner to this lot; thence N. 64 deg. 17' W. 150.0 feet to the beginning, containing 0.66 acres, more or less.

Said Tracts 1 and 2 are subject to the conditions set forth in a deed from Thomas Charles Brannan to Richard Ice and Mabel Ice dated March 2, 1953 and recorded in Deed Book 147, Page 21 of the Records of Pickaway County, Ohio. Said easement recites as follows: "Together with an easement to use, in conjunction with grantor, his heirs and assigns, the driveway on and along the north side of the premises owned by the grantor herein and adjoining the premises herein conveyed to the south thereof, for ingress and egress to and from the premises herein conveyed, such easement being conditioned however, on grantor, their heirs and assigns, bearing one-half of the annual costs of keeping said driveway in proper repair."

Said Premises Appraised at $9,000.00 Terms of Sale: Ten Per Cent (10 per cent) of the purchase price in cash up-day of sale, balance in full upon confirmation of sale and delivery of deed.
Said premises cannot be sold for less than two-thirds of the appraised value thereof.

Moving into Gaza Strip

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Strong contingents of Egyptian troops, supported by heavy armor and artillery, are moving into the Gaza strip, Israeli sources said today.

An Israeli army spokesman refused to confirm or deny the reports but said, "we are watching developments closely."

Troop movements have been reported on both sides of Israel's borders with the United Arab Republic.

Detroit Coach Luke Appling Recalls Old Aches, Pains

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Luke Appling watched the rain against the clubhouse window. He shivered.

"I feel awful," he moaned. "I got aches and pains all over." "That's great, Luke," said Detroit Manager Jimmy Dykes, sitting nearby. "If you keep feeling this way we ought to have a terrific season."

Dykes recommended the hiring of Appling as Tiger coach this past winter. Appling was Jimmy's star shortstop when he managed the Chicago White Sox from 1934 to 1946.

"The time to worry is when Ol' Aches 'n' Pains here says he feeling fine," explained Dykes. "As soon as he starts to complain, then you know everything's all right. The year (1936) he hit .388 to lead the American League in hitting, he was always on the rubbing table, went to bed with a hot water bottle and was telling everybody how bad he felt."

Appling who, among other things, used to complain of double vision, had one of the sharpest pair of eyes in baseball. He was the greatest at fouling off pitches until he found one to his particular liking.

That used to get rival hurlers not only fatigued but fighting mad. Among his pet patsies was Dizzy Trout, then with the Tigers. "I once fouled off 10 or 12 straight pitches against Trout," the Southern-born Appling recalled. "Ol' Diz was gettin' madder with each pitch."

"Finally he screamed at me, 'You so-and-so, let's see you foul this off!' He wound up and threw his glove. I swung and darned if I didn't foul that off, too."

"Diz was fit to be tied but he really blew his top when Bill Summers, throwing behind the plate, threw him out of the game for throwin' his glove."

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO VALLEY
The men of Scioto Valley Grange treated the women to a meal Tuesday evening serving 85 people.

The tables were decorated with cut flowers and potted plants furnished by Will W. Fischer and Donald Diehl.

The cakes used for the meal were first judged for the Pound Cake contest by Miss Louise Dunfee, Home Economics teacher of Scioto Twp. School.

There were 10 entries with Mrs.

Harold Fisher winning first; second, Mrs. Vernon Bolander; third, Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh; fourth, Mrs. Paul Peters; fifth, Mrs. Elmer Payne.

After a short business meeting with Worthy Master H. A. Bumgarner presiding, Mrs. H. O. Caldwell entertained by showing slides of the flowers grown in their garden and around their home.

Next meeting will be held at 8 p. m. March 8.

Widely Known Radio Cleric Dies at 49

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Rev. Morris Coers, 49, Baptist minister who raised the money to build a replica of Christ's tomb and the surrounding garden here, died Wednesday.

Death of the widely known radio minister apparently was due to a heart attack. His wife found him dead when she went to awaken him from an afternoon nap.

The Rev. Coers was one of the Democratic leaders in the 1933 and 1935 session of the Indiana legislature.

He conducted religious programs over Cincinnati radio and television stations and over WNO Pat Newport for many years. Much of his radio work was devoted to obtaining wheel chairs, clothing, blood for transfusions and anything needed by the sick and poor.

A native of Shelbyville, Ind., he was a Red Cross worker in World War II, serving in Africa and Italy.

He got the idea of "the Garden of Hope" during a trip to the Holy Land several years ago. He spent four years raising the necessary $10,000 and building the replica of the tomb and garden on a 2½-acre tract atop a hill overlooking the Ohio River. It has been visited by thousands.

Red Chinese Heap Ridicule On Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China is firing its heaviest propaganda guns at President Eisenhower in an all-out effort to discredit his present Latin American tour.

The violence of the outburst has startled even some U. S. officials, long accustomed to a steady drumfire from Peiping on any and all American policies.

Samples from recently intercepted Peiping broadcasts now reaching a crescendo in the hate-America campaign run like this: "U. S. President Eisenhower is forced to make a personal trip (to Latin America) to carry out conniving and deceptive activities. Latin America, which the United States has always considered its backyard, has become the very front lines opposing U. S. imperialism."

U. S. officials see three major aims by Peiping in its Latin American offensive:

1. To disrupt the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere by every possible means.

2. To break the solid Latin American line-up in the United Nations and gain support among these largely Roman Catholic countries for admission of Peiping to the U. N.

3. To build up Latin American differences with the United States and thereby increase Peiping's chances for diplomatic recognition among the hemisphere nations.

Juvenile Aides Unhappy at Trend for '60

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fewer juvenile delinquency cases in Ohio in 1959 has pleased top juvenile officials, but they are not too optimistic that the trend will hold for 1960.

Admittedly happy over 1959 statistics, officials are cautious in their outlook for this year.

"We're not sure it's permanent," said John Ferguson, chief of the juvenile division in the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

"There might be an increase this year," declared Capt. Philip Momburg, head of the Columbus police juvenile bureau.

Statewide, the number of juvenile cases showed a decline of 3.6 per cent. That came after years of a steady increase in delinquency, following a nationwide trend.

Local juvenile authorities said reasons for a decrease last year "are extremely hard to pinpoint." They hesitate to forecast the 1960 situation.

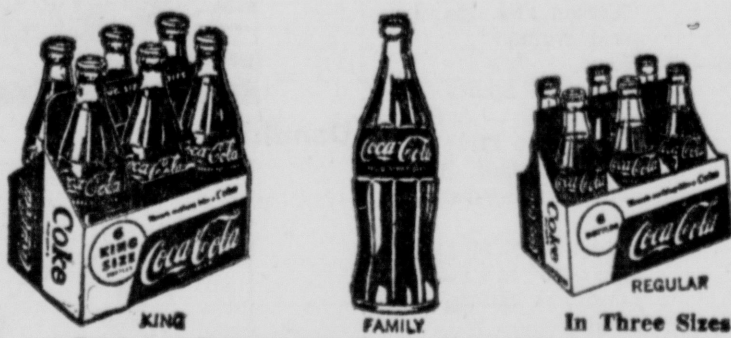

Ferguson pointed out: "We sometimes have changes that are not too permanent. It's hard to say if this represents a real decrease. We have been up and down before."

Laurelville NHS Inducts

The Laurelville Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual tapping ceremony Tuesday in the Laurelville High School.

The Rev. Wayne Fowler of the Laurelville EUB Church gave the invocation and talked briefly of the importance of character, scholarship, leadership and service—the four principles of the Honor Society.

The initiation ceremony was conducted by Ronnie Whisler, Ann Meenach, Sue Ebert, Karen Stump and Raymond Mueller.

Seniors tapped were Jack Barnes, Kay Brokaw, Arlene Brown, Betty McCain, Jo Ann Reynolds and Larry Van Fossen.

Juniors tapped were Kenneth Barnes, Jo Ellen Brown, Barbara Burns, Tim Ferguson, Glenda Martin, Nona Mueller, Barbara Notestone, Janet Rein Gerry Sherman, Clayton Stahl, Carolyn Swackhammer, Joyce Swackhammer and Linda Whitcraft.

All students selected must have a grade point average of 3.0 (B), demonstrate leadership qualities, shown service to their class and school and be of outstanding character.

An open letter from Truman A. Morris, candidate for Democratic nomination for Representative to Congress.

The Sixth District will elect a Congressman this year. We need representation badly. Each county is faced with many problems and your Congressman will not be able to learn his job after he gets there and then expect to accomplish very much.

I feel my background will enable me to immediately get to work to get things done for the Sixth District. I have taught Political Science and Government for seven years. My seven years of college and graduate study in this field will save our district valuable time.

Elect a man whose experience and background will enable him to get things done.

Our district needs flood control. The counties on the Scioto deserve protection. They deserve the benefits other areas derive from the rivers. This subject has been neglected too long.

Nominate Truman A. Morris as Sixth District candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative to Congress.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO VALLEY
The men of Scioto Valley Grange treated the women to a meal Tuesday evening serving 85 people.
The tables were decorated with cut flowers and potted plants furnished by Will W. Fischer and Donald Diehl.
The cakes used for the meal were first judged for the Pound Cake contest by Miss Louise Dunfee, Home Economics teacher of Scioto Twp. School.
There were 10 entries with Mrs.

Harold Fisher winning first; second, Mrs. Vernon Bolender; third, Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh; fourth, Mrs. Paul Peters; fifth, Mrs. Elmer Payne.
After a short business meeting with Worthy Master H. A. Bumgarner presiding, Mrs. H. O. Caldwell entertained by showing slides of the flowers grown in their garden and around their home.
Next meeting will be held at 8 p. m. March 8.

Widely Known Radio Cleric Dies at 49

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Rev. Morris Coers, 49, Baptist minister who raised the money to build a replica of Christ's tomb and the surrounding garden here, died Wednesday.
Death of the widely known radio minister apparently was due to a heart attack. His wife found him dead when she went to awaken him from an afternoon nap.
The Rev. Coers was one of the Democratic leaders in the 1933 and 1935 session of the Indiana legislature.
He conducted religious programs over Cincinnati radio and television stations and over WNO Pat Newport for many years. Much of his radio work was devoted to obtaining wheel chairs, clothing, blood for transfusions and anything needed by the sick and poor.
A native of Shelbyville, Ind., he was a Red Cross worker in World War II, serving in Africa and Italy.
He got the idea of "the Garden of Hope" during a trip to the Holy Land several years ago. He spent four years raising the necessary $10,000 and building the replica of the tomb and garden on a 2½-acre tract atop a hill overlooking the Ohio River. It has been visited by thousands.

Red Chinese Heap Ridicule On Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China is firing its heaviest propaganda guns at President Eisenhower in an all-out effort to discredit his present Latin American tour.
The violence of the outburst has startled even some U. S. officials, long accustomed to a steady drumfire from Peiping on any and all American policies.
Samples from recently intercepted Peiping broadcasts now reaching a crescendo in the hate-America campaign run like this: "U. S. President Eisenhower is forced to make a personal trip (to Latin America) to carry out conniving and deceptive activities. Latin America, which the United States has always considered its backyard, has become the very front lines opposing U. S. imperialism."

U. S. officials see three major aims by Peiping in its Latin American offensive:
1. To disrupt the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere by every possible means.
2. To break the solid Latin American line-up in the United Nations and gain support among these largely Roman Catholic countries for admission of Peiping to the U. N.
3. To build up Latin American differences with the United States and thereby increase Peiping's chances for diplomatic recognition among the hemisphere nations.

Juvenile Aides Unhappy at Trend for '60

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fewer juvenile delinquency cases in Ohio in 1959 has pleased top juvenile officials, but they are not too optimistic that the trend will hold for 1960.

Admittedly happy over 1959 statistics, officials are cautious in their outlook for this year.

"We're not sure it's permanent," said John Ferguson, chief of the juvenile division in the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

"There might be an increase this year," declared Capt. Philip Momburg, head of the Columbus police juvenile bureau.

Statewide, the number of juvenile cases showed a decline of 3.6 per cent. That came after years of a steady increase in delinquency, following a nationwide trend.
